6 Senators Appointed For McCarthy Inquiry

3 Members In Each Party Are Selected

Sens. Watkins, Case, Carlson, Johnson, Stennis, Ervin Picked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon today appointed a six-member Senate committee to make an investigation of the conduct of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and consider proposals that he be censured.

The members:
Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah).
Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kans).
Sen. Francis Case (R-SD).
Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo).
Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss).
Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-NC).

Named by Parties

While Nixon announced the appointees, the actual selections were made by party leaders.

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee had an early morning meeting to decide finally on the Democratic members.

Vice President Nixon made the announcement of appointment of the committee in a quiet, matter-of-fact voice, after calling a quorum of the members to the chamber.

Behind-the-scenes maneuvers to line it up had been going on steadily since the Senate voted Monday night to create the committee.

The vote ended a bitter debate in the Senate touched off by a resolution by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) calling for censure of McCarthy.

Knowland's Motion

The motion for creation of the committee, offered by GOP Leader Knowland, includes a provision that the committee should report before this session of Congress adjourns.

There appears to be a strong possibility, however, that any report by that time—since congressional leaders are driving for adjournment by next weekend—could not go much further than to say the committee would need more time for its study.

West Rejects Idea

Red Plan for Big 4 Talks Seen as Plot

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's new proposal for a 'Big Four foreign ministers meeting is officially regarded here as part of a persistent drive to wreck Western anti-Communist defenses and to destroy eventually American leadership of the free world.

West Opposes Plan

Officials said today Britain and France stand firmly with the United States in opposition to this Kremlin campaign. They forecast that the Russian proposal for new talks on European security will be turned down by joint decision. Three-power talks on a reply are now getting under way in London.

However, further Soviet moves are expected. The belief here is that the Russians may try to devise proposals of increasing attractiveness to Western Europe. Their immediate major aim is to block West German rearmament.

2 Lines of Attack

Their proposal for an over-all European security system has been put forth as an alternative to the Western-sponsored European Defense Community proposing to rearm Western Germany as part of a six-nation army. EDC is due to come up for action soon in the French Assembly.

Russia's over-all campaign aimed at destroying U.S. leadership and isolating the United States is being developed along two main lines.

One is directed toward convincing non-Communist nations not only in Europe but all over the world that the Communist bloc wants only peace. The agreement of the Reds to end the war in Indochina fits into that line, as does their European plan.

The other line is directed toward

Antisubversive Measure Gets Okay in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed 293-55 yesterday a bill designed to force some witnesses in national security cases to give testimony they could otherwise withhold because of the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination.

The bill differs considerably both from the recommendations of Atty. Gen. Brownell and from a measure on the same subject passed by the Senate last year. But it is the first of the administration's antisubversive proposals to pass both houses in some form.

Senate acceptance, regarded as a possibilty, would send it on to the White House. Otherwise, Senate-House attempts to compromise their differences would be necessary.

The House bill would apply to witnesses in national security cases

Russian Subs Threaten Pacific, Admiral Warns

TOKYO (AP)—The Russian Navy may have as many as 90 submarines in the Pacific area, Vice Adm. William Callaghan, commander of U.S. naval forces in the Far East, estimated today.

"These submarines definitely would be a threat to maintaining sea lines of communication," said the tall, grey-haired admiral, whose job would be to fight them in the event of war with the Soviets.

Has 375 Subs

"Russia has a total of 375 submarines," Callaghan said in an interview, "and we feel it would be reasonable to expect that one-quarter of them are in the Pacific."

He estimated the Russian Pacific fleet also has 50 destroyers and two cruisers, but no aircraft carriers or battleships.

"Submarines and air power are their greatest threat, so far as Soviet capability is concerned," Callaghan said.

Two weeks ago, Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Far East Air Forces commander, said combined Soviet, Chinese and North Korean air forces had 7,500 planes, most of them Russian.

Russian ground strength in the Far East has been estimated at 35 combat divisions by a high-ranking officer on the staff of Gen. John E. Hull, Far East commander.

Callaghan, the first skipper of the famed battleship Missouri, is a veteran of both world wars. He was in charge of the Military Sea Transportation Service during the Korean War.

Heads 7th Fleet

His present command includes the U.S. 7th Fleet, made up of destroyers, cruisers and aircraft carriers, but presently no battleships. The 7th Fleet is charged with preventing a Chinese Red invasion of Formosa, Chinese Nationalist redoubt.

Callaghan also is in charge of the Amphibious Force, West Pacific, made up of attack transports, cargo ships and landing craft. He also is in command of fleet activities in the Navy yards at Yokosuka and Sasebo, Japan, and Inchon and Pusan in Korea.

Although there are no battleships in the Far East at present, there are four aircraft carriers—the Boxer, Philippine Sea, Yorktown and Hornet. The latter three are doing service with the 1st Fleet in the South Pacific. The Boxer has been in Yokosuka undergoing routine repairs to the flight deck.

Asked about the chances the Russians would have in getting aircraft carriers into the Pacific in case of war, Callaghan smiled: "I would certainly hate to be in command of a Russian naval force trying to come around the Cape of Good Hope," he said.

Peiping Won't Even Accept U.S. Protest

Red China Refuses To Consider Note on Shooting of Airliner

LONDON (AP)—Red China has refused even to accept a second American protest against the shooting down of a British airliner off Hainan last month, diplomatic officials said today. Three Americans were among 10 persons killed in the attack.

The U.S. State Department disclosed July 29 that the Peiping regime had contemptuously turned down American protests on both that incident and a subsequent fighter attack on two American rescue planes in which the attackers were shot down.

The protests were relayed by British Charge d'Affaires Humphrey Trevelyn. The Chinese would not accept them from his hand.

Informants here said Trevelyn had sought anew to deliver Washington's protest, but the Communists refused for the second time even to consider it.

The United States does not recognize Red China and has no diplomatic dealings with the Peiping government.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the Chinese had put themselves in the wrong by refusing the protests. He announced at the same time that another strong protest had been sent off to Peiping through the British.

Youth Chokes Deputy, Flees Madison's Jail

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Carl Castle, 19-year-old hoodlum who escaped from Madison County jail yesterday, visited his sister in Columbus early today while a rain-soaked posse of hundreds with "shoot to kill" orders hunted him near here.

Harold Bidwell, Madison County sheriff, said Castle's brother-in-law, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Earls, called the Franklin County sheriff's office after Castle had left their Columbus home about 5 a.m.

Castle escaped yesterday after overpowering deputy Kenneth H. Johnson, 66. Johnson was grabbed from behind by Castle as the officer was returning prisoners from a shower room to their cells. The deputy, on duty alone, was choked and rendered almost unconscious by the young attacker, but his condition was good today.

Sheriff Bidwell said Castle, after his escape, obtained two pairs of blue jeans and some food at the Madison County Children's home, and then stole a station wagon parked nearby.

Joining in the search for Castle, who is wanted in at least two states and four cities for various crimes, were London residents, city police, volunteer firemen, London prison farm guards, state highway patrolmen and deputy sheriffs from five surrounding counties.

Second Woman Admits Affair With Sheppard

Confesses 'Hugging And Kissing' Dates, Police Official Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police reported today they have a signed statement from a married woman admitting she had recent "hugging and kissing" dates with Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

The woman was described as a former patient of the 30-year-old osteopath who is charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

The information was disclosed by a high police official who refused to be identified by name. He also said investigators now have established five amorous escapades in the life of Dr. Sheppard.

The only woman identified so far is Miss Susan Hayes, 24-year-old hospital technician, who returned here voluntarily from Los Angeles to tell of intimacies with the defendant.

In the latest case, the officer said, the husband of the woman signed a statement saying he slapped his wife because she took a walk in the woods with Dr. Sheppard.

The woman said she had "three or four dates" with the handsome osteopath and they "hugged and kissed, nothing more."

Indochina Envoy in U.S. For 'Urgent Conference'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Robert McClintock, U.S. charge d'affaires in Indochina, arrived by plane tonight en route to what he described as "an urgent conference" in Washington.

He planned to leave almost immediately for the nation's capital.

McClintock said he had been summoned to Washington by Secretary of State Dulles. Beyond that he would make no comment.

Sen. Kefauver Faces Fight in Primary Today

Opposition Provided By Rep. Pat Sutton; Good Vote Expected

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, whose endless handshaking and political tub thumping almost won him a presidential nomination in 1952, will find out today if he is popular enough with voters in Tennessee to win a second Senate term.

As title-holder he had to meet the surprisingly strong challenge of Rep. Pat Sutton in the Democratic primary while the nation's youngest governor, Frank Clement, bid for a second term against his bitter political enemy, former Gov. Gordon Browning.

Clear skies and weather as hot as the campaigns themselves were in prospect for Tennessee voters as the weatherman said early today the temperatures would climb to 100 or higher.

State Democratic Chairman H. S. Walters said between 625,000 and 650,000 votes will be cast in his party's primary while GOP Chairman Guy L. Smith said 125,000 would vote in the Republican primary.

Democratic primary winners are virtually certain to win the November election in predominantly Democratic Tennessee. The Republicans have no candidate in the gubernatorial race. Their main strength is in upper east Tennessee where two Republican congressmen have no serious opposition for renomination.

With Sutton in the senatorial battle, Tennessee will nominate a new representative from his district to be sent to the House with six other Democratic representatives who face little opposition.

Ray H. Jenkins of Knoxville, whose name won national prominence as special counsel for the Army-McCarthy hearings, is listed on the ballot with Robert Gregory of Memphis for the Republican senatorial nomination.

One Killed, 7 Missing, 30 Hurt in Blaze

Homes Are Evacuated Because of Threat of Additional Explosions

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Homes were evacuated today near a distillery fire and civil workers were summoned for fear new blasts might knock over other storage buildings "like dominoes."

Fire fighters were ordered back from a flaming whisky rackhouse of the American Distilling Co. because of the possibility that a new store of alcohol might ignite and explode.

Eight May Be Dead

Eight persons may have been killed. One person was known dead, seven are missing and feared dead, and more than 30 were injured in two explosions and fires since Wednesday morning. Some 110,000 barrels of aging whiskey already have gone up in seething flames.

The threat that the fire might spread and touch off new blasts prompted Pekin air raid wardens to ask all Civil Defense workers to be ready to report for emergncey action.

Many Civil Defense workers from Pekin and nearby communities already reported for duty at the fire scene.

The continuing fire, capped by a dazzling, nighttime, atomic-like explosion seen 75 miles away, destroyed much of the company's sprawling plant facilities in this central Illinois city.

Damage already is well into the millions of dollars.

The explosion last night lifted the roof and walls of one rackhouse—a six story brick building—high into the air. The debris rained down on firemen and plant workers fighting to halt the fierce, whisky-fed blaze touched off 17 hours earlier during a severe electrical storm.

Bricks buried two fire trucks and a fire chief's car.

Rackhouse Explodes

Firemen who were drawing their water from the Illinois River and reportedly handicapped by a lack of sufficient pressure, were ordered to retreat a quarter of a mile because of the threat of new explosions.

The fire yesterday morning consumed two 8-story rackhouses where whisky is stored in barrels for aging and a 4-story brick customs storage house. Some 42,000 barrels of whisky went up in this fire.

Firemen from Peoria and a half dozen adjoining communities,

Seaway Likely To Boost Ohio Dope Problem

So Warns Attorney General in Report to Narcotics Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill warned today that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway will intensify Ohio's illegal narcotics problem.

The warning came in a second report on a statewide study of the problem at the request of the Legislature in seeking tighter controls. The report said:

"Ohio will be faced with an additional problem in the very near future. The St. Lawrence Seaway will make the northern shores of Ohio and all of its cities oceangoing ports. We can look forward to an increased enforcement problem in illicit narcotics traffic in this area. We must be alert and be prepared when the time comes."

Heroin a derivative of opium, was termed the foundation of the illegal traffic. The report said the crystal-white powder can produce the most vicious addiction.

"Communist China is one of the major sources of the illicit narcotics traffic in the world today," the report stated.

Another troublesome problem in

Marion County Hesitant

Area Mental Health Clinic Considered

By WILLIAM R. DIEM

Should Marion County join its neighbors in support of a multi-county mental health clinic?

This question is being pondered today by a group of Marionites who attended a meeting in Delaware last night at which the need for mental health facilities was explored, together with the feasibility and methods of establishing a multi-county clinic.

IF PRESSED for an immediate answer on joining Delaware, Morrow, Union, and Knox Counties in supporting a district psychiatric clinic, Marion's reply would probably be "we're not ready."

That was the consensus of the Marion delegation as reported by Probate and Juvenile Court Judge Edward J. Ruzzo at the conclusion of the meeting.

Sponsorship of a mental health clinic would probably have to come from a county mental health association.

Marion has none now, although a new welfare department being organized by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs could evolve into such an organization.

Mrs. Henry Mickley, president of the federation, was one of the Marion representatives attending. Others were Judge Ruzzo, Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith, Dr. Bret Hurd, county health commissioner; Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner; Dr. Robert Weimer, psychiatrist for the Frederick C. Smith Clinic; Mrs. Vesta Williams, representing the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Doris Maxwell, executive secretary of the Family Service Society, and Eugene Yazel, probation counsellor.

WHILE THE MARIONITES attending agreed facilities are needed for treatment of emotional disturbances and mental illness, some saw flaws in a district organization, preferring a strictly local psychiatric center.

And one, Dr. Weimer, believes Marion residents already have adequate treatment facilities at their disposal. He listed the two state centers in Columbus, one at the Columbus State Hospital and the other at Ohio State University, the two trained psychiatric case workers with the Family Service Society, his own staff and himself and 19 practicing psychiatrists in Columbus as providing adequate facilities.

His view that the two state centers in Columbus were not overburdened with applicants for treatment was challenged by Mrs. Ester Hauptli, director of psychiatric social services for the State Department of Mental Health. She

Thousands May Give Up

Farmers and Ranchers Disheartened by Drought

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
Associated Press Writer

Farmers and ranchers are glum and dispirited in the vast drought country where corn and cotton droop and cattle graze on brown pastures.

"Unless we assist in every possible way," says Agriculture Commissioner John White of Texas, "thousands of our rural people will have to abandon the land."

Wide Area Suffers

White speaks for only one state. But drought still rules all the great plains, in spite of recent rains and federal aid already granted to six states.

Good rains in sun-burned sections of the South and East have been more helpful—but not enough to save most crops.

Here is what men who live on the seared land throughout the disaster areas say:

Only a lot more rain, and then still more, can finally beat the drought and save them—and when that happy day will arrive is an impossible guess. Meanwhile, they need federal help to hang on—and, they grumble, they aren't getting enough.

"I don't think they're expecting a 'dole'," White said. "For the sake of our economic future, we have to help the little farmer and rancher stay on the farm. We can't help them if they are forced to drift into the cities to seek employment."

The number of states eligible for federal aid reached six this week when Oklahoma and Missouri were added to Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Texas.

Six More Ask Help

Six more states — Alabama, Arkansas, Kansas, Kentucky, Georgia and Tennessee — have asked to be included.

Still, as of today, the situation appears slightly better than it was

Charter Group Slates Public Meeting Tuesday

Letters to the citizens of Marion, inviting them to attend a public meeting next Tuesday were sent out this week by the Home Rule Charter Commission.

The commission, which recently completed the compilation of a new charter for the city which will be on the ballot in November, urged all citizens to attend the meeting.

A citizens committee will be formed at the meeting to inform the general public of the provisions contained in the proposed charter. The gathering will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the YMCA in Room 201.

Eastern Ohio Residents Face Gas Shortages

Two Companies Say Rejection of Rate Hike Will Cripple Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Residents of Martins Ferry, East Liverpool, Steubenville and Bridgeport face the possibility of natural gas shortages for space heating units this fall as a result of action by the state utilities commission.

Two companies serving those areas, the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. of Pittsburgh and Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia, contend they won't be able to provide adequate service to customers because the state utilities commission refused to reinstate rate increases recently cancelled.

Rehearing Denied

The commission yesterday denied the two gas companies a rehearing on their application for emergency rate increases. The order was signed only by Chairman Robert Moulton and Ralph Winter. Commissioner Ray Martin, who didn't sign the order, delivered a strongly worded dissent.

Martin contends the companies deserve the rate increases and need them to build lines connecting with a new supply of gas available to Ohio next Nov. 1. As he sees it, both prospective customers and new customers will suffer because of orders of the other commissioners.

During a normal winter, neither company has enough gas to supply all customers on cold days, said Martin. And the company has stopped adding new customers who thought they would be able to have gas furnaces this coming winter, he said.

"The order revoking the emergency rates and the order denying a rehearing is so unreasonable and unlawful that it shows a gross abuse of discretion on the part of the majority," Martin says in his dissenting opinion.

"The irony of the June 16 majority order is that this commission by rescinding the emergency rates in effect said to the applicant, 'now that gas is available you cannot build the lines to carry it,' and to the people served by this company (Manufacturers) 'you cannot have the public utility service you desire'," Martin added.

The commission last June cancelled a $1,205,000 emergency increase it granted Manufacturers Light and Heat. Two increases temporarily granted Natural Gas were reduced at the same time.

The companies contend that without the emergency increases they cannot extend their lines to tap the resources of a new pipeline bringing huge quantities of natural gas from the Gulf Interstate System. The concerns have cancelled plans to take applications for new gas space heating units and have agreed to complete only those units which are already under construction.

Manufacturers serves customers in Belmont, Jefferson, Monroe, Columbiana and Harrison counties. Natural Gas' territory includes Monroe, Jefferson, Stark, Harrison, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Columbiana, Mahoning and Belmont counties.

The companies maintain that without the increases they cannot show the profit necessary to attract capital from the parent company, Columbia Gas System, to finance new construction. They say they have been losing money in the last two years because of the increased cost of labor, construction and maintenance.

Freeze Lifted

They had planned to spend some two million dollars to tap the Gulf Interstate supply line by Nov. 1, the companies claim. The utilities commission had recently lifted a freeze on new home heating units on the assumption that new supplies of natural gas would be available to Ohio by that date.

Forest Inaugurates 5-Day Centennial Celebration

Parade, Pageant Attract Large Crowds From All Over Nation

FOREST — A mile long crowd which lined both sides of Routes 37 and 53 through Forest Wednesday night witnessed a parade which officially opened a five-day celebration of Forest's 100th birthday.

The centennial observance is a sort of homecoming for former residents of Forest who came from all over the state and nation for the event.

The colorful parade preceded a pageant entitled, "Forest Through the Years," at Memorial Field, in which the community's residents enacted village history from beginning until the present day.

FEATURED IN the pageant were portrayals of the first settlers and scenes of the days when Indians roamed the territory and the big railroad fire of 1927. Forest firemen were on hand to keep the realistic fire enactment under control. Approximately 2,000 persons watched the pageant on its opening night. It will be presented again tonight and Friday night. Joe Shields is chairman of the pageant committee and Ralph Balmer had charge of music furnished during the pageant by the 100-voice community choir. Mrs. Russell Ohlemacher presided at the organ and Mrs. Grayce Latham at the piano for the event.

The parade which formed at Gormley Park and marched through the business district, lasted about an hour and a half. At the conclusion of the parade, cash prizes were presented to the winners and runners-up in various divisions. In the church group, the Forest Presbyterian Church copped first place honors while area churches, the Blanchard River Church and the Shilo Church, were in second and third places, respectively. In the grange and lodge division, honors went to Hope Chapel Grange, first; the Forest Independent Order of Odd Fellows, second; and the Forest Brownie Scout troop. In the commercial float group, the Forest Locker Plant, Dick Traxler Plumbing and the Arlington Motor Sales of Arlington, O., took first, second and third place honors. Special prizes were given for the Kenton Lightning Riders, motorcycle club, and an old 1910 Brush model auto.

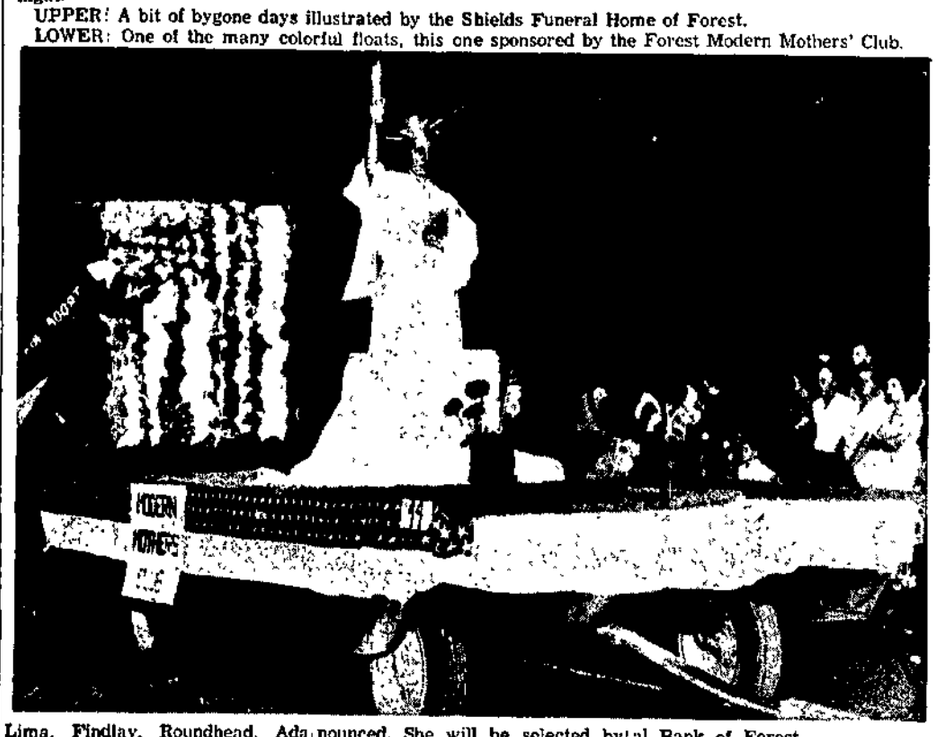
MRS. MORRIS BURK was chairman and Mrs. Blanche Fishburn, co-chairman, for the parade proceedings. Entries in the parade were from Forest, Kenton, Carey, Upper Sandusky, Dunkirk, Lima, Findlay, Roundhead, Ada and Marion, in addition to various groups from neighboring counties.

WITH ENTRIES FROM NEIGHBORING counties helping to make the Forest centennial parade a success, the village began the observance of the 100th anniversary of its birth as a village Wednesday night.

UPPER: A bit of bygone days illustrated by the Shields Funeral Home of Forest.
LOWER: One of the many colorful floats, this one sponsored by the Forest Modern Mothers' Club.



In addition to the pageant presentation tonight, a square dance will also be featured in the village. Tomorrow night, Forest's centennial queen will be announced. She will be selected by popular vote of those persons attending the pageant and casting a ballot before noon tomorrow. The queen will be presented a $50 war bond. Her runner-up will receive a $25 war bond. Both awards are being donated by the First National Bank of Forest.

On Saturday night, featured entertainment will be Spooks Beckman and his group from a Columbus television station. The centennial will end on Sunday with morning and afternoon religious services at Memorial Field.

Drought

10 days ago, when nothing but heat soaked the country from Georgia to Wyoming and Canada to Mexico.

Since then, spotted rains have raised dabs of green in some of the driest states — Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma.

But scattered rains like these have fallen before in the past four years, and always the moisture has faded in a few days or weeks.

Even in the South, where the drought isn't as old and tough as in the plains states, the rains of the past week weren't enough. For example, Kentucky received an average of 1.24 inches, the most in any week since April. The rain helped tobacco, but most other crops were too far gone to be saved.

Timely rains also were reported in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Minnesota But in these states, too, the word was the same. More rain needed, and even that wouldn't revive some fields

The government's emergency program is aimed at helping livestock men hang onto their foundation herds. The government has agreed to pay half the cost of shipping hay into the federal disaster areas. The Agriculture Department also will pay a subsidy of 60 cents per hundred pounds for corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums. The subsidy will go to the dealers, and ranchers can then buy these grains at cut-rate prices.

But this program will leave feed prices somewhat higher than they were last summer under a more liberal federal emergency program. For example, you could buy a bushel of corn last year for $1 Now it will cost something under $1.50.

That is one reason for grumbling in the drought areas

Another is that farm spokesmen in some states believe more territory should have been included in the disaster program.

Narcotics

Ohio comes from marijuana. Marijuana forms the "makings" for reefer cigarets and comes into this country mainly from Mexico.

Major Problems

The report quoted commissioner Harry J. Anslinger of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics as saying that heroin and marijuana are Ohio's two major problems.

O'Neill designated Alvin I. Krenzler of Cleveland, an assistant Ohio attorney general, to make the Ohio study. Krenzler said future reports would deal with the subjects of enforcement, penalties, treatment, prevention and education in the illegal narcotics field.

The report went to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, legislators and members of Ohio's Citizens Narcotics Advisory Committees in all counties.

Jr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University at Athens, is general chairman of the overall Governor's Committee

The report showed 13 regional meetings attended by 5,200 committee members representing 82 counties have been held. More will follow. The meetings have been in Cleveland, Dayton, Springfield, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Lima, Cincinnati, Columbus, Portsmouth, Mansfield, Toledo and Zanesville.

More than 100 public and private agencies are taking part in the program, Krenzler reported.

Recent deep sea explorations found a shark in lightless water 2½ miles below the surface near Dakar, Africa.

Traffic Cases In City Court

Three motorists were fined for traffic violations in Municipal Court Wednesday. Heaviest penalty was levied against Howard Colegrove Jr., 28, of 159½ N Main St. who was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident

Colegrove was fined $100 and costs and had his drivers license suspended for three years. He was accused of leaving the scene of an accident Tuesday at the corner of Silver St. and Avondale Ave.

Charles D. Murton, 24, of 775 Oak Grove Ave., was fined $25 and costs for speeding, and Grady Gilbreath, 27, of Dearborn, Mich. was fined $15 and costs for driving left of center.

Fire

worked from 2:30 a.m. to extinguish the blaze

But at 7:30 p.m. rackhouse E containing 68,000 barrels of whisky exploded with a blinding flash.

Lawrence Nervear, 39, a plant employe, was killed by falling bricks.

Frank Drury, Pekin city commissioner, who was standing near the rackhouse, said

"There was a big flash and I went down into the water and muck. When I came to, rocks, fire and timber were falling on my legs." He was bruised.

The rackhouse was condensed to a glowing smouldering pile of debris 50 feet high

The dull red glow of the explosion was seen in Springfield, 75 miles south of Pekin. The blast bulged plate glass windows in and then out a mile away from the plant

Four more rackhouses containing thousands of barrels of whisky extend in a straight line from rackhouse E and one fireman expressed fear they may "go down like dominoes."

William H. Damour, 48 firm treasurer who suffered a head injury and was brought to Peoria Hospital, said he couldn't even make a guess at the extent of damage with the blaze still burning.

However, office manager Al Weston estimated the damage in the morning fire at 3½ to 4 million dollars.

The distillery, which employes up to 700 persons, closed down July 1 and only a skeleton crew was on duty in the rackhouses.

Sheppard

On one occasion, the woman said in her statement, they took a two-hour automobile ride and parked in metropolitan park. She admitted being the more aggressive of the two

Dr. Sheppard previously had been questioned about the woman, police said, and denied their relationship was anything other than strictly "doctor-patient."

Questioning Ends

The osteopath lay on his cot in county jail today and listened to a portable radio and read magazines about "hot rod" cars. Detectives yesterday halted their questioning, saying the prisoner would not talk and they were merely wasting time

Attorneys for the physician filed two complaints with the Cuyahoga and Cleveland Bar Assns. against Sheriff Joseph M. Sweeney, contending Dr. Sheppard had been deprived of his civil rights.

Although they did not specify what their complaint was based on, they previously contended they had not been able to see the defendant as often as they wished.

The Rev. Alfred C Kreke, pastor of Bay Village Methodist church, visited the prisoner yesterday and said Dr. Sheppard complained detectives keep "thrusting before him pictures of his murdered wife."

He said Dr Sheppard ceased talking to detectives because of the pictures and repetitious questions he had been asked The minister said Dr Sheppard felt police were only interested in convicting him

On a volunteer basis, detectives began taking the finger prints and palm prints of anyone in Bay Village who might have been in the Sheppard home about the time of the slaying

One palm print, found on the desk in the Sheppard home, never has been identified.

Health Clinic

said these centers had a large backlog of cases, some dating back to February.

Mrs. Hauptli, in an earlier talk, suggested that the first step in considering formation of a mental health center should be community study of the need.

She said a survey should be made of the community's divorce rate, number of unwed mothers, how many persons are committed by courts or physicians to state hospitals, what behavior problems are experienced in the schools, and the like.

She said psychiatric centers are prepared to give four services: diagnosis, treatment, consultation and follow-up.

The clinics are supported by state funds and local contributions, which generally are collected by county mental health associations.

THEY EMPLOY a psychiatrist, who directs the over-all operation, makes the diagnosis and supervises the treatment; a psychologist who helps with the diagnosis through administration of tests and assists in psychotherapy and in consultations; and one or more psychiatric caseworkers, who follow through with treatment, interview family members and help dig out environmental factors which might have caused emotional disturbances or mental illness.

Local centers are not equipped to treat severe cases of mental illness, but specialize, rather, in catching such illness at its early stages.

Children form perhaps 80 per cent of the cases handled, Mrs. Hauptli said. Many are referred to the clinic staff by teachers or school administrators. Other referrals come from physicians, ministers, persons who already have received help from psychiatric centers, and the courts.

A multi-county clinic for this area was considered because of the feeling a single county could not support a center by itself.

State funds are used to pay salaries of the psychologist, the psychiatric caseworkers and part of the psychiatrist's salary. Funds raised locally, usually through campaigns conducted by county mental health associations, supplement the state money. In the past it has been customary for the state to supply about two-thirds of the total funds, but Mrs. Hauptli said this is no longer true. The arrangements are worked out on the basis of need after a clinic is set up, with no standard formula for sharing the expenses.

Another speaker was Daryl Orwig of Tiffin, who told how a multi-county clinic serving his area was organized. This clinic now serves six counties, including Wyandot and Crawford.

The meeting was called by the Delaware Council of Social Agencies. Dr. Russell Bayliff, a member of the faculty of Ohio Wesleyan University, and president of the council, presided.

Ministers, physicians, judges, educators and representatives of groups interested in mental health from Delaware, Marion, Morrow, Knox and Union Counties attended.

Red Plan

convincing the free nations that the United States is not peaceful but is committed to starting a new war.

President Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday the Soviets are "spending literally billions in different kinds of propaganda" and using subversion and bribery to drive this contention of theirs toward acceptance by millions. The President declared the United States must "be more imaginative in finding ways to combat" the Soviet campaign.

The latest Soviet maneuver was made yesterday when Russian ambassadors in Paris, London and Washington delivered notes proposing the foreign ministers of the Big Four powers should meet in August or September to discuss the calling of a big all-European conference on European security and on some German problems.

The Russians had made like proposals earlier, most recently on July 24, urging creation of a European-wide security system which would include Russia and the Iron Curtain countries. They have frankly offered this as an alternative to EDC. They have suggested that the United States should be a member, that Red China should be an observer and that Russia might be taken into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The whole concept of such a security system clashes with the systems in being and proposed by the Western powers with the goal of blocking any future Soviet aggression.

French and British as well as well as American government leaders have repeatedly asserted their nations would never permit Russia to wreck NATO by any such maneuver. They have also declared support of the proposed EDC as providing essential strength for NATO.

Tuna weighing over 200 pounds have been caught recently at a depth of 60 fathoms off the coast of American Samoa by long line fishermen.

Drivers Arrested In County Mishap

One minor accident, which led to the arrest of both drivers involved, was reported in the past 24 hours by state patrolmen from the Marion post. It happened on U. S. Route 23 at the intersection of Marion County Road 108, south of Marion at 7:50 p.m. Wednesday. City police reported two accidents, neither involving $100 damages.

A car driven by Herbert R. Jackson, 22, of near Waldo was struck in the rear end by a car driven by Franklin B. Himler, 20, of near Cardington, as both vehicles headed north on Route 23

Moderate damage was done to the front end of Himler's car, while minor damage was done to the rear bumper and tail pipe of Jackson's car.

Himler was issued a citation to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance, and Jackson was cited to appear on the same day to answer a charge of fictitious license.

House Bill

both in the courts and before congressional committees. A witness who balked at testifying because of possible self-incrimination would be promised immunity from federal prosecution if:

1. A congressional committee voted to do so by a two-thirds majority, if it gave the attorney general advance notice and if a U.S. district judge approved.

2. The federal prosecutor in a court case applied for and received an immunity grant from a U.S District Court.

In either event, the attorney general could argue against an immunity grant. If the court approved such a grant, a witness who continued to balk at testifying could be prosecuted for contempt.

The Senate's 1953 bill is not limited to security cases, but covers any crime. It is, however, limited to congressional witnesses. And it would authorize the attorney general, not the courts, to grant immunity subject to a veto by the House or Senate.

TEST SUBJECT GETS POLIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Polio has stricken a Dayton girl taking part in a nationwide test of a new polio vaccine, the state health department announced yesterday. The department said it received the report from officials of Ashland County whre the girl became ill.

McCarthy

over the recent McCarthy-Army hearings, said the new inquiry could last "two or three months"

Although Knowland and others have said they hoped the committee could make a swift investigation and report before the scheduled mid-month adjournment of Congress, Mundt said he doubts such speed will be possible.

Mundt said in an interview he thinks "two or three months" will be needed to sift the censure charges unless the committee limits the number of witnesses to be heard. And he advised against that.

Mundt said, however, that this would be time well spent "If we could dispose of all of these charges one way or the other and put the action behind us so the Senate could go on to more important business."

Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, senior Democrat on the investigations subcommittee, shared this general view. He said that subcommittee's report on the McCarthy-Army row ought to be made before mid-August and that the Senate should stay around after House adjournment to act on the censure report.

"I think the whole McCarthy controversy — both the McCarthy-Army hearings and the censure charges — should be disposed of before the Senate adjourns," he declared.

McCarthy Agrees

McCarthy said he agreed with McClellan, adding.

"They should make senators who make these charges come in and offer their proof."

"They should be called on to prove each charge they have made," he said. "A senator who makes a charge should be asked to prove it or admit he has no proof."

Then, McCarthy said, he himself should be called to state his side of the case.

McCarthy declined to comment on President Eisenhower's news conference statement yesterday that the President can't escape responsibility for what goes on within his party.

Eisenhower said the kind of thing now going on in the Senate—meaning the McCarthy controversy—is going to affect the party but he couldn't tell just how. He said it was the Senate's business, but nevertheless he must take such measures as are available to him to try to avoid and ameliorate party-splitting rows.

Due Process

By George Sokolsky

Those who complain about Sen. McCarthy's improprieties might raise the question of due process.

1. A committee of the Senate finds itself involved in accusations of unbecoming conduct on the part of its chairman and members of its staff. Direct complaints are made against the chief counsel, and the administrative officer of the committee by a special counsel engaged by the Department of the Army after a conference had been held in the office of the attorney general of the United States which was attended by important members of the executive branch of the government.

SOKOLSKY

2. The three who were accused of impropriety made an answer.

3. The committee decided to conduct an investigation into its affairs, chose Sen. Karl Mundt to preside and Ray Jenkins of Knoxville, Tenn., as special counsel.

4. A hearing was held which took testimony for 36 days in public, in the presence of press, radio, television and a large audience. In addition, a number of witnesses were heard in executive session. Millions of words of testimony were taken all of which were duly recorded, and except those taken in executive session, they have been printed.

5. It was stated that the counsel for the committee would digest the testimony and make a report to the committee which is empowered to act upon it. The committee, under the chairmanship of Karl Mundt, would then file its report with the committee on Government Operations which would make a decision from whih an appeal could be taken to the Senate for action.

THIS PROCEDURE, which is orderly and conforms, as much as possible, to the traditions and rights of the Senate and all parties concerned, was violated during the last hour of the McCarthy-Stevens hearing by Sen. Charles Potter whose report was issued to the press before it was filed with the committee of which he is a member and before the last word of testimony was in.

Sen. Potter's impropriety may have many explanations. The only realistic explanation can be that he did it because he wanted to do it and that it satisfied those who had anticipated that the hearings would disclose gross improprieties on the part of Sen. McCarthy and Roy Cohn which, if they took place, were not brought out in evidence.

At any rate, Sen. Potter's obligation to his colleagues was to file his statement at the hearing and not to issue it as a press release while the hearing was still in session.

For this insult to his colleagues, Sen. Potter was not reprimanded because it is really impossible to reprimand a senator who is a sovereign in his own right.

SEN. POTTER also placed himself in the position of voting with the Democrats against his Republican colleagues, which was duly acknowledged by Sen. McClellan who shouted, "Welcome Democrat!"

Sen. Potter is not running for re-election this year; were he running for re-election this year, it is doubtful if he would have acted in this manner.

Into this situation entered the aged and years-weary Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont who also did not wait for the report of the committee but who projected himself as a private judge, made deliberately untruthful statements concerning Roy Cohn, maligning his private morals.

He also proposed a senatorial reprimand for Sen. McCarthy. One of his charges is that the McCarthy committee has been investigating and keeping files on certain senators. I do not know how true that is of the McCarthy committee but there are files concerning the relations between some United States senators and Communists.

Even I, a humble reporter, to use the favorite word of Mr. Welch of Boston, have some data about some senators I do not use because I do not engage in gossip.

SOME DAY some committee will perhaps haplessly bring such data forward and they might stumble on the efforts to keep Michael Greenberg on the government payroll, and also they might glance at the continuing friendships of Alger and Priscilla Hiss who have more defenders than speak out in public.

Sen. Flanders did not wait for the Jenkins report, or for majority and minority reports of the Mundt committee but went off entirely on his own against the wishes of many of his colleagues who felt that he was out of order. There was no due process in Sen. Flanders' conduct.

Needle Ready

By Victor Riesel

BERLIN

There are some very bored State Department officials here, very much depressed by the rainy weather and annoyed by newcomers who ask too many questions. They've just been telling me there's nothing to the rumors of a Russian kidnapping ring.

RIESEL

Yet 3,000 labor leaders, writers, underground workers, refugee organization directors and government officials have been kidnapped or have mysteriously disappeared in Europe since 1945.

To cite just one case in which the kidnapped man was finally traced there is the abduction of Dieter Friede, then anti-Communist editor of the Berlin newspaper, Der Abend. He was snatched by the Russians, forced by the Soviet gestapo - type SSD (State Security Force) to "confess" and condemned to 25 years at hard labor for alleged espionage. His was an early case.

IF ONE CHARTS the kidnappings from 1945 to the present, he finds that there is considerable strength in the theory of labor people here that despite the new sociability of the Soviet officialdom the Russians are trying to liquidate the brains and the manpower of all the German anti-Communist groups here. Many of them, of course, work for our own undercover agencies.

To counter the Soviet kidnapping squads and cloak - and - dagger operations which would make television script intrigue sound like a chapter of "Little Women," the West Berlin police have organized a special 3,000-man Alert force.

This is motorized—much like our state troopers. They're specially trained. I've been told they live in their own barracks equipped with a radio station. Any alarm can reach them in seconds — and their motorcycle men can speed to any Berlin street within a few minutes. This might be fast enough to nab a car speeding to the Russian sector.

THERE IS no way for an outsider to know whether this squad is operating efficiently. But obviously neither the Alert Squad nor any other force has been able to cope with the Soviet kidnappers.

The Red strong arm men roam all of Europe, in addition to Germany, and aim specifically at organizations like the "Freedom Committee for Russian - German Friendship" and the "Free Jurists" which have terrific contacts behind the Iron Curtain.

These Soviet squads are also used by their espionage units and have contacts inside the Communist parties of the world — and that includes the American Communist party.

The kidnapping - espionage network of tough muscle men and espionage agents works for a series of Soviet army, state, and Cominform agencies far too complex to attempt to unravel here.

What must be reported is their relationship with America's 25,000 American card - holding Communists:

Those here who can speak authoritatively about the Soviets say that the American Communists have been ordered to liquidate their independent unions and take either whole Communist - controlled national unions or locals into the AFL and CIO — wherever they can get in.

THE POINT IS not only to stay close to the inside of our defense industry, but also to place themselves as close as possible to non-Communist local and international union heads — and there urge, or provoke, strikes and slowdowns.

The American Communist labor men are also under orders to begin working their way towards launching Soviet-American friendship outfits — and to get non-Communist labor officials to front for them if they can.

To speed implementation of this policy the Soviet are increasing their flow of secret police and disciplinarians into the U. S. to needle their people, especially their labor men, into action despite the hostile public atmosphere.

Thus the same network which operates in Berlin of Soviet secret police, Cominform agents, kidnappers, muscle men and political commissars — especially those who were trained during the Spanish Civil War — is reaching into the United States.

Just wait and see. You won't need to wait long!

Hero's Mother

By Hal Boyle

HILL CITY, S. D.

How can a middle-aged woman who has lost her husband and reared her children adjust to a world that suddenly seems empty?

HAL BOYLE

That was the problem that faced Mrs. Arthur Wermuth, mother of Maj. Art Wermuth, the famous "one-man army of Bataan."

She found the answer by turning her back on the busy social life of Chicago and settling down in a cabin in this old small (pop. less than 300) mining town in the Black Hills. She lives alone with her 8-year-old Dalmatian watchdog, "Sissy," and says she has found here a new peace and purpose in life.

—:—

"EVER SINCE I came here," she said, "I have loved these hills so much that I could kiss the ground for the happiness they brought me."

Sitting in the living room of her log home, Mrs. Wermuth, a vivacious, dark-eyed woman whose age is still her own secret, told the story of her life.

"When I was in the third year in high school I had my appendix out," she recalled. "The surgeon had a son, who was also a doctor and helped him.

"I started hollering for the young doctor, and wouldn't let the old man take care of me. Before I left the hospital the son and I were engaged.

"I guess he fell in love with my insides," said Mrs. Wermuth, laughing, then added quietly:

"But for more than 24 years no woman ever had a finer husband. He was a good man."

—:—

THE YOUNG DOCTOR became a famous overworked surgeon. In 1925 his wife talked him into coming to the Black Hills on a fishing trip, and each year after that they returned.

"In Chicago he belonged to the people, and the city finally killed him," she said. "But out here he belonged only to me—and here we found peace together."

Widowed shortly before the war, Mrs. Wermuth spent 9 years traveling about the country with her daughter, Talia, who had become a professional dancer. They were tiring, anxious years.

—:—

HER SON had won fame by killing more than 100 Japanese single-handed in patrol actions on Bataan before being taken prisoner.

"For more than 3½ years I worried every night that they would kill him in prison camp," she said.

After the war she settled here with her daughter, who is married to a businessman in nearby Custer. Her son is now in the insurance business in Denver.

"To this day we have never talked about the war," she remarked. "'Some day, mother, I'll tell you about it,' he said, and some day, when he is ready, he will tell me. But it is over, and now he doesn't want even to hear about it.

"So far he hasn't even looked at the scrapbook I collected about his heroism, but some time he will. I also still have the gavel used in the House of Representatives to declare war on Italy and Germany. It was given to me by Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas. He said the gavel used to declare war on Italy had been stolen."

THE SHELVES of her four-room cabin are crowded with souvenirs of her travels. The shelf above the fireplace holds the bronzed first baby shoes of her two children—and the skull of a gorilla, given to her in Seattle.

Mrs. Wermuth now is a familiar figure in the Black Hills, and held in high affection for her acts of kindness. Even the crustiest old prospector waves as she wheels by on a trout fishing trip.

"No, I don't miss the city social life I used to know," she said. "Here they have something much better than society—a neighborliness you don't find in many places.

"The Rocky Mountains are so big they give you a feeling of loneliness. But the Black Hills give you a feeling of serenity and peace.

"I don't know whether you know what I mean by that, but you will when you are older."

She reached down and patted Sissy, and the big spotted dog glanced up and looked at her thoughtfully. The two understand each other.

Why Shouldn't He Pay Taxes, Man Asks City

LINDEN, N.J. (AP)—Stephen Sember was a tax collector's dream come true today.

Sember, who lives in a trailer, lodged a formal complaint with the City Council demanding to know why he hasn't been billed for taxes.

Sember said yesterday he had lived in trailer camps in various parts of the country for the past 10 years and always had been obliged—and happy—to pay his taxes.

Why, he asked, should it be any different in Linden?

The Council's tax committee prosed to look into the matter.

DISTRICT TRAFFIC ARREST

One motorist was arrested and fined in Morrow County Wednesday, state highway patrolmen from the Marion post reported. Ralph E. Wood, 23, of Akron was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead for speeding.

Girl From County To Be Graduated Sunday as Nurse

Miss Betty Uhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Uhl of west of Marion, will be graduated from Mt. Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, Columbus, in exercises to be held at 4 p.m. Sunday in St. Joseph's Cathedral. Thirty-six young women will receive their diplomas.

The address will be given by Bishop Michael J. Ready, and the class roll will be read by Rev. Hugh Murphy, of St. Charles Seminary, a former assistant pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church here.

Miss Uhl was graduated from the Morral High School and prior to entering training was employed in the office of the Marion County Clerk of Courts. Before her senior year she was affiliated with the nurses glee club at the hospital.

BETTY UHL
Completes Training

Attending the ceremonies will be Mr. and Mrs. Uhl and family, Sister Mildred (Elizabeth Uhl) aunt of Miss Uhl, Sister Marie, (Ruth Granger) both of Marion, and Sister Paulette and Sister Emma, cousins of the graduate, all of St. Mary of the Springs faculty, Columbus. A number of other relatives and friends plan to attend.

Following her graduation Miss Uhl will remain on the hospital staff.

Hugh Herbert Relatives Lose Contest Over Will

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A brother and a niece of the late Hugh Herbert have lost their claims to the comedian's $163,342 estate.

The Superior Court upheld yesterday Herbert's 1950 will, which left $10,000 to Rose Herbert, Fort Worth, Tex., his former wife, and the remainder of his estate to the Motion Picture Relief Fund, Inc.

The brother, Edward F. Herbert, 57, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and the niece, Mrs. Grace Van Schyndel, 42, of East Weymouth, Mass., contended unsuccessfully that a 1952 codicil invalidated the bequest to charity.

Red China, Indonesia Sign Trade Agreement

TOKYO (AP) — Moscow radio today said a barter trade agreement was signed between Communist China and Indonesia.

The broadcast heard in Tokyo quoted a Jakarta dispatch as saying negotiators reached an agreement in Jakarta.

It said Red China will export cotton, textiles, light industry machinery, and Indonesia copra, coffee, quinine and other raw materials.

Radar Nabs Three

A radar speed check on U. S. Route 23 six miles south of Marion Wednesday afternoon, resulted in the arrest of three motorists by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Patrolmen reported the check was held in Pleasant Township, between 3 and 5 p.m. The three motorists were charged with speeding and ordered to appear in Municipal Court in the future.

Exemptions Increased

Tax Changes Benefit Retired Workers

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most elderly retired persons probably won't have to pay any federal income tax from now on.

That is one of the far-reaching effects of the giant tax revision bill just passed by Congress. Some of its biggest benefits will go to retired persons.

When you're 65 or over, the law already permits you to exempt $1,200 of your income from taxes. If you're married and file a joint return, the exemption is $2,400.

Fourth of a Series

FROM NOW ON, in many cases, retired persons will be permitted in effect to deduct an additional $1,200 of retirement income. That would be a tax cut of $240. If both husband and wife have retirement income, they can get an additional $2,400 deduction, or a $480 tax cut.

Retirement income is defined as income from pensions, annuities, interest, rent and dividends.

With other standard deductions, the new provisions boil down to this:

If you and your wife both have retirement income, you can get up to $5,333 a year without paying taxes; if only one of you has income, you can get $4,000 tax free; if you're a retired single person, you can get $2,666 without paying any tax.

Experts believe these cutoff figures will cover most retired persons, except a few in upper income brackets.

They estimate the new bill will give tax cuts to almost two million taxpayers, totaling about 141 million dollars the first year. The number to benefit, and the revenue reduction, will increase later as millions more retire.

—:—

TECHNICALLY, the new provision works like this, if you qualify:

You figure your tax bill just as in the past, taking all regular exemptions and deductions. Then you apply the first bracket tax rate (now 20 per cent) to your retirement income, up to $1,200. Next you subtract that figure, say $240, directly from the tax payment you otherwise would make.

But there's one important limitation. If you get income that is already tax free—as from social security, railroad retirement, military or veterans' pensions—you must subtract this from your $1,200 retirement income before you figure your tax credit. In other words, you can't exclude the same income twice. For example, if you get $700 a year from social security, you could count only $500 of other retirement income; and you would get a new tax cut of only $100. However, you don't have to subtract military or veterans' disability payments from your retirement income.

And there are four important requirements to meet before you qualify for the new benefit.

First, most persons must be 65 or over. But if you retire under a public pension system—if you're a retired schoolteacher, policeman or other federal, state or local government worker—you can subtract 20 per cent of your income from that system even before you are 65. But you can't count other retirement income until you are 65 or over.

SECOND, TO BE counted as a retired person and get the full benefit, you must make $900 or less from work. Any earned income above $900 must be subtracted from your $1,200 retirement income before figuring your tax credit. So if you make $2,100 or more from work, you are not considered to have retired and you get no benefit. But at age 75 or over, you can get the full benefit regardless of your earnings.

Third, to qualify, you also must have made as much as $600 a year in earned income, for any 10 years before you retire. The theory is that the benefit should go only to persons retiring from active work. But note that you don't have to earn $600 for the 10 years immediately before your retirement. You can count any 10 years — even those long before you retire —and they don't have to be consecutive. A widow can qualify under this so long as her husband did.

Fourth, you can't get this benefit if you use the short-form tax return, under which you merely list your income and exemptions and take your tax from the table on the back of the return. Only taxpayers with $5,000 or less income may use this return.

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Drum and Bugle Corps Finishes Fifth in Contest

Bird-McGinnis Post Drum and Bugle Corps won fifth place in the drum and bugle competition at the annual state convention held in Cincinnati last weekend. Massillon Corps captured first honors and the Bellefontaine corps, 1953 champions, was second. Forestville, the 1952 champions, took third place and Circleville was fourth, Toledo sixth, Martin's Ferry seventh and Dayton, eighth.

On Aug. 15 the local corps will compete in the Mid-West Drum Corps contest at Bellefontaine and on Aug. 22 will enter the contest at Circleville. The Marion corps will be one of 16 units competing for honors at the Ohio State Fair on Aug. 29. Competing at this time will be corps from Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

French Teen-Agers On Tour of World

NEW YORK (AP) — A couple of French teen-agers have arrived from South America on a trip around the world in 80 days" to commemorate the 80th anniversary of the Jules Verne novel.

The pair, Francoise Haurie, 16, and Jean Francois Bernede, 14, won a soap company contest.

They confided last night that language difficulties sometimes make things confusing.

In Peru, for instance, they asked for a deck of playing cards and got peanuts.

"But the peanuts were good," they said.

Frightened to Death?

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A traffic officer stopped Rudolph Goebel's car after a traffic rule infraction and asked for Goebel's driver's license.

While the officer was looking at it yesterday, Goebel, 57, slumped over the steering wheel. He was pronounced dead at a hospital.

Indians Even Series on Three-Run Homer By Avila

Blast Erases Yankee Lead; Wynn, Grim To Hurl Finale

CLEVELAND (AP)—Their modest league lead protected, the Indians move against the New York Yankees today in the rubber game of their three-game series at Cleveland Stadium.

Back at two and a half games ahead of their closest rivals, the Indians stand 1-1 in the series and 8-8 for the season against the hard-to-shake New Yorkers.

A three-run blast by Bob Avila leveled the Yankees, 5-2, last night and more than compensated for the two run lead they grabbed during the first inning.

Avila's homer was his 10th of the season and fourth against the Bronxites.

Rookie Bob Grim, boasting the Yankee's best pitching record with 13-4 makes his first start against the Indians in today's contest.

His opponent, burly Early Wynn, seeks his third victory over the Yankees and the 14th of the season with four losses.

Only three pitchers have hung a trio of defeats on the Gothamites. They are Willard Nixon of Boston, Chicago's Virgil Trucks, and the latest Cleveland's Bob Lemon, in the event last night.

Lemon made it five in a row and 14 for the season, with five losses as he held the Yankees to five hits in the seven innings before he tired.

Mike Garcia came in to hurl the last two frames, and yielded only one hit.

The Indians jabbed 11 hits through three Yankee pitchers—Allie Reynolds, who lost his third in 13 decisions, Eddie Lopat and Art Schallock.

Tallying all their runs in the first inning, the Yanks were shut out for the remainder of the evening.

Gil McDougald walked and Joe Collins cut a single to left. The first run came on a single by Yogi Berra. Then Collins made it home on a short sacrifice fly by Irv Noren.

With two out in the third, Avila's 320-foot circuit clout followed Sam Dente's grounder over Phil Rizzuto's head and Jim Hegan's walk.

Two more Cleveland runs were added in the fourth. Vic Wertz smashed his sixth homer of the season and Hegan singled in Dente who had doubled.

Reynolds left the game for a pinch hitter in the fifth, after giving the Indians all their runs and seven hits.

Mack Says No Chance Of Staying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Speaking in terms of cold cash, says vice president Earle Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, there isn't a chance of keeping the ball club in Philadelphia.

That was the most forthright statement made yet on the plight of the American League club that is dying from a lack of money, fans, and a winning record.

Earle made the statement yesterday in confirming that a 4½ million dollar offer has been made for the A's by a Kansas City syndicate headed by Arnold Johnson of Chicago.

The statement was the latest in a series of exchanges between Earle and his older brother, Roy, the team's executive vice president. Roy has been one of those behind the move to keep the A's in Philadelphia and has said he has high hopes of raising enough money to buy out his brother and their father, Connie Mack.

'Roy talks big," said Earle, but we don't have a dime."

Latest developments on the A's tremulous future showed conclusively that both 91 year-old Connie Mack, builder of the Athletics empire and his son Earle despair of keeping the club here and both are resigned to selling out. Only Roy clings to the hope the franchise can be saved for Philadelphia.

Prospects Fair For Weekend Fishing in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prospects for Ohio fishermen this weekend are fair, the Ohio division of wildlife reported yesterday.

The sectional outlook:

Northwestern — Catfish and crappies hitting at Lake St. Marys, and they are expected to continue hitting over the weekend. Lake is clear and a little below normal level. Walleyes and an occasional catch of whitebass are reported from Lake Erie.

Northeastern — Only a few lakes reporting good catches. Mogadore, Berlin Reservoir, Pleasant Hill and Clearfork have been the best this past week. Largemouth bass, bluegills and a few crappies made up the catches. A few bluegills and perch are being caught in Punderson and Acquilla but stream fishing has not been good.

East Central and Southeastern—Fishermen have not been having much luck in this area. Some nice catfish are being caught in the Wolfhonding River and Wills Creek in Coshocton County. Several streams are roily.

Central and Southern — Catfishing good this week in Rocky Fork Lake, and expected to continue through weekend. Streams in Franklin County range from roily to muddy. Some smallmouth bass and rockbass are being taken below Griggs Dam in the Scioto River. Stream fishing elsewhere fair, but lake fishing is poor.

Southwestern — This section providing best fishing at present. Good catches reported from Grant Lake with catfish, crappies, bluegills, and carp appearing on the stringers. Streams of Butler County offering good smallmouth bass, catfish and carp fishing. Stonelick and Cowan lakes report some good catches of catfish and bluegills. Fishing at Indian Lake is good, with bluegills, crappies, catfish and pike being taken. Lake fishing in southwestern Ohio has generally been fair to good, and the streams fair.

DRIVER DEL CAMERON and owner Octave Blake hold the winner's cup after their Newport Dream won the $106,000 Hambletonian trotting classic for three year-olds at Goshen, N.Y. Newport Dream, driven to victory in straight heats, captured the first prize of $57,581, second richest Hambletonian ever run.

Has Mystery Ailment

Injured Newport Dream Captures Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. J. (AP) — Newport Dream has caused Del Cameron a lot of lost sleep in recent months, but the determined little harness racing driver must have laid his head on the pillow with a broad smile last night.

For with all his aches, pains, bandages and liniments, Newport Dream tossed away the crutches and went out to defeat 15 rivals in the $106,830 Hambletonian yesterday.

Newport Dream has been, and still is, lame with a mystery ailment in the left foreleg, swollen knees on both forelegs, and a swelling in the right hock.

But the 2-year-old champion of 1953 chilled the opposition in two consecutive heats, whirling around Good Time Park's triangular mile in 2:02 4-5 both times to grab off the top prize of $57,581.

A month ago Cameron said it was 50-50 whether he could get the colt ready for the Hambletonian. At winter quarters in Pinehurst, N.C., Newport Dream began showing lameness in the left foreleg during mid-March. Three veterinarians were called in. Nobody could determine whether it was centered in the ankle or shoulder.

Finally they blocked a nerve to try and pinpoint the spot, but that worsened things — an infection developed.

Cameron, who trains for owner Octave Blake, master of the Newport Stock Farm, South Plainfield, N.J., never gave up. He worked day and night on the colt preparing for the big one.

"He's got a heart as big as that bucket of oats," said Cameron.

Newport Dream defeated Princess Rodney, Walnut Hall stud Donerah, Ky., by three lengths in the first heat yesterday.

In the deciding dash an hour later it was evident Newport Dream was lame walking to the post. But he wouldn't quit. He took the lead with about three-eighths of a mile remaining, and held on desperately to beat C. P. Provost's Harlan Pittsburgh, by a head as the crowd roared.

Promising Tennis Youngsters To Get Davis Cup Training

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight of the most promising young tennis players in the country today were placed under the guiding wing of Jack Kramer with one thought in mind—to win back the Davis Cup from Australia.

The United States Lawn Tennis Assn. announced the plan — the plan—the junior Davis Cup training program and the idea is to beat the Aussies at their own game. They begin training youngsters early.

The lads range from 13 to 17 and will make the entire Eastern swing under the watchful eyes of Kramer, one of the country's greatest players. Kramer is donating his time and Holiday magazine is underwriting the expenses of the youngsters.

The list includes Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, Gerry Moss of Modesto, Calif., Alan Quay of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mike Franks of Los Angeles, Mike Greene of Miami Beach, Fla., Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., Arthur Andrews of Iowa City, Ia., and Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md.

About 40 per cent of the crop income in Kentucky comes from tobacco.

Walk, Home Run Cause Reds' Loss

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The combination of a base on balls plus a home run has plagued the Cincinnati Redlegs all season.

It showed up again last night and the result was a 4-3 victory by the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates over the Rhinelanders.

And it came just when it looked as if the Cincinnatians had the ball game all locked up. They were ahead at 3-2 and two were out in the last of the ninth.

Then reliefer Frank Smith walked Bob Skinner and Gerry Lynch blasted him for the home run that gave Pittsburgh its triumph.

All of which gave the second guessers a field day. Some wondered at the wisdom of taking Jackie Collum out for a pinch hitter in the top of the ninth when the Reds were ahead and after he had done a brilliant job of stopping the Pirates.

Even Manager Birdie Tebbetts did a little second guessing of himself. He explained he sent Smith in in the bottom of the ninth because two right-handed hitters were coming up. Smith got them but the lefthanded swingers broke up the ball game.

The result left the series here tied at one all and today Fred Baczewski was slated to pitch for Cincinnati against Paul La Palme of the Bucs. The game will end the series.

Columbus Defeats AA Runnersup 4-2

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis American Association winning streak was chopped off at seven games last night but not until six home runs had been blasted from the St. Paul park.

Two homers each by Johnny Bucha and Bud Hutson gave the St. Paul Saints a 6-3 decision over the third place Millers. Rance Pless and Don Lund each hit a round-tripper for the losers.

Meanwhile the Indianapolis Indians increased their league lead to 16 games by completing the sweep of a four game series from Kansas City, 7-2, as runner-up Louisville lost to Columbus, 4-2.

The Toledo Sox whipped cellarite Charleston, 3-0, for their seventh consecutive victory and Charleston's eighth straight loss.

At Springfield Stadium

50 High School Grid Stars Prepare for All-Star Game

By FRITZ HOWELL

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Fifty of Ohio's hottest high school gridders are going through two-a-day workouts here in preparation for the ninth annual All-State North-South game scheduled the night of Aug. 13.

The 1954 schoolboy classic bids fair to be one of the best in the series which the Rebels lead with five victories against three losses and a tie.

Bill Kidd, mentor of New Philadelphia's unbeaten 1953 squad, head coach of the underdog Southern team. The Northerners are led by Jim Robinson, veteran Canton Lehman technician.

The squads, number 25 each, are made up of last fall's senior talent. They are expected to put on a scintillating scoring show with each featuring the regulation and split-T offenses.

The youngsters with less than two weeks to prepare for the annual contest are practicing daily from 9 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sandwiched between sessions and in the evening are chalk talks by the coaches.

Assisting Kidd with the Rebels are Ben Wilson of Wellston, Tom Watson of Portsmouth and Bob Hefflefinger of Cadiz. Robinson's aides are Hilton Murphy of Toledo, DeWilbiss, Pete Lanzi of Youngstown East and Paul Ponzurie of Coldwater.

Bruce Schram, All-Ohio lineman from Massillon's state champs, was appointed by Robinson as co-captain of the Northerners and the players will name the other. Kidd expects his boys to name co-captains before the weekend.

Another Massillon star, Ron Agnes, suffered a shoulder injury yesterday. He relinquished his starting guard position and returned home. Robinson immediately contacted alternate Junior DiPietro of Canton Central Catholic and asked him to report to fill the vacancy.

Massillon's High School band will furnish the half-time attraction at the game and the Springfield High band will reciprocate at Massillon when the return moves to Massillon.

Jim McDonald, Springfield High coach and L. G. Reneau, athletic director, are co-chairmen of the affair. They said today they had ads displays by sporting goods manufacturers set up for the annual clinic starting Tuesday and that at least 320 high school and college mentors would be on hand for the school.

Clinic instructors include Hugh "Duffy" Daugherty, Michigan State's new head coach; Burl Jamerson, Illinois line coach; Don Faurot of Missouri, originator of the split-T; Woody Hayes of Ohio State; Sid Gillman of Cincinnati and Carroll Widdoes of Ohio University.

McDonald said more than 6,000 tickets had been sold for the All-Star game and that he expected a capacity crowd of 13,500.

The amount of food be consumed by the players led McDonald to observe:

"If these kids put as well as they eat, this figures to be the best of the All-Sta. games."

OHIOANS QUALIFY

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Ohioans qualified for today's 54 American golf tournament at the Tam O'Shanter course with 36 professionals, they are Hiram Mc-ell of Akron who shot a 73-35—72, Leo Gingert of Sandusky, 37-35—72 and Art Dering of Cincinnati, 36-36—72.

Roberts on Way to Fifth Straight 20-Game Season

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Robin Roberts is about ready to knock on that 20-game door again. If he gets inside, he will be the first to do it five seasons in a row since Carl Hubbell was the meal ticket of the New York Giants.

The Philadelphia strong boy has been coasting along most of the year on the fringe of the spotlight, yielding the center of the stage to the exciting pennant races. But he's been winning just the same.

When he handcuffed Milwaukee on five hits last night for a 2-1 triumph, he ran his victory total to 16 against 9 losses. Two seasons ago when he won an amazing 28, exactly a dozen of the victories came after Aug. 4

Roberts isn't quite up to his pace of last year when he won his 19th game on Aug. 4. But the righthander still remembers with dread the rough going he encountered once he reached 20 in 1953. He ran his record to 20-8 on Aug. 12 but staggered through the last seven weeks of the season with only three more victories.

Hubbell won more than 20 each year from 1933 through 1937. Roberts started his 20-game string in 1950 with a 20-11 mark He followed with 21-15 in 1951, 28-7 in 1952 and 23-16 last year. Hubbell won 115 games in his five 20-game seasons. Roberts needs 23 triumphs this season to equal that total

Roberts shares honors with Johnny Antonelli of the Giants as the winningest pitcher in the majors this season He and Harvey Haddix of St Louis lead in strikeouts with 130 each and his amazing total of only 30 bases on balls in 228 innings is by far the best in the National League.

Roberts struck out nine and walked one in beating the Braves last night. Bob Morgan's bases-empty homer in the third gave the control artist the run he needed to win after both sides had scored in the first.

The victory moved the Phils into fourth place, half a game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals who bowed 8-7 to Brooklyn. The Giants shaded Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings and Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 4-3.

Cleveland evened its current series with the New York Yankees with a 5-2 triumph. Chicago edged Boston 6-5 in 10 innings. Detroit defeated Washington 6-2 and Philadelphia and Baltimore swapped last place as the Athletics whipped the Orioles 6-4.

Cleveland moved 2½ games ahead of the Yankees in the American League. New York stayed five games in front of Brooklyn in the National

The Giants beat Chicago on an 11th inning single by Hank Thompson that brought in Wes Westrum from second base after two were out. Westrum's single and a sacrifice by winner Don Liddle set up the run which ran the New Yorkers' winning streak to six.

In Brooklyn the Cardinals grabbed a 7-6 lead with three runs in the ninth only to have the Dodgers pull it out on Jackie Robinson's homer with Jim Gilliam on base in the last of the ninth.

Pittsburgh furnished another dramatic finish With two out and one aboard in the last of the ninth Gerry Lynch smashed a Frank Smith pitch into the seats for the winning margin.

The Cleveland Indians turned on Allie Reynolds, one of their former Tribesmen, and handed the veteran his third defeat of the season. Bobby Avila's three-run homer in the third inning gave Bob Lemon the cushion he needed for his 14th victory When Lemon tired after seven innings, Mike Garcia mopped up.

The Chicago White Sox cut into the National League monopoly on last-gasp triumphs as they downed Boston on Matt Batts' bases-loaded single in the 10th after the Red Sox had come from five runs back in the eighth and ninth innings. Ted Williams drove in three runs with his 19th homer in the eighth Phil Cavarretta hit a grand slam homer for the White Sox in the first.

Detroit came from behind to whip Washington, scoring three runs in the seventh when Wayne Belardi's homer was the big blow

The Athletics pounded three Baltimore pitchers for 14 hits including three by Pete Suder and a two-run homer by Don Bollweg.

Yesterday's STARS

PITCHING — Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies, won his 16th game as he held Milwaukee to five hits while striking out nine in a 2-1 triumph.

BATTING — Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers, hit a two-run homer with one out in the ninth to give the Dodgers an 8-7 victory over St. Louis.

FIGHT TO DRAW

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa. (AP) — Brooklyn's Johnny Saxton and Johnny Lombardo fought to a draw here last night in ten action-packed rounds. Saxton is slated to meet welter champ Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia Sept. 1.

Favorites Gain In Tennis Play At Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Rain twice interrupted matches in the first annual Junior Chamber of Commerce National Tennis Tournament yesterday, but it did not prevent favorites from advancing

Seeded teams in both boys and junior divisions moved into the third round in the doubles competition.

Top-seeded Myron Franks of Los Angeles and Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Max Brown and Jack Tarr of Lyndon, Ky., 0-6, 7-5, 6-4, then ousted Richard Leslie, Park Ridge, Ill., and Neil Drury, East St. Louis, Ill., 6-1, 6-1.

In boys doubles, Bob Delgado and Joe Cowley of Los Angeles whipped Fred McCaughen, Crossett, Ark., and Jerry Wilbour, Little Rock, Ark., 6-0, 6-0

Second-seeded Gerald Dubie, and Ray Senkowski, both from Hamtramck, Mich., defeated Ron Finkleman, Middletown, Ohio, and Jim Tenney, Toledo, Ohio, 6-1, 6-4

Third-seeded Earl Bucholz, St Louis, and Mike Redpath, Kansas City, Mo., defeated Marty Riessen and Hugh Czerwonky of Des Plaines, Ill., 6-4, 6-3, while Fourth-seeded Bob Bowditch of Worcester, Mass., and Nicholas Johns of Jamaica Plains, Mass., topped Dallas Edwards and Ralph Weber of Parma, Idaho, 6-0, 6-0.

In junior doubles, second-seeded Mike Green, Miami Beach, Fla., and Allen Quay, St. Petersburg, Fla., eliminated Ronald Ramming, Lawton, Okla., and Jimmy Jackson, Chickasha, Okla., 6-2, 6-4 Third seeded Al Holtmann, St Louis, and Bob Riley, Kansas City, Mo., defeated Mike Poizner, Kansas City, and Jimmy Carter, Arkansas City, Ark., 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 Fourth-seeded Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., and John Harris of Washington, D C., defeated Charles Bashaw, Bellows Falls, Vt., and Don Bartlett, Norwich, Vt., 6-0, 6-0.

Fights Last Night

CHICAGO—Jimmy Carter, 138, New York, outpointed Glen Flanagan, 135½, St. Paul, 10.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa. — Johnny Saxton, 156, Brooklyn, drew with Johnny Lombardo, 152, Mount Carmel, Pa., 10.

Field Reduced to 6 In Legion Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six American Legion junior baseball teams fight it out today while a seventh stands by as the state championships come down the home stretch.

Celina plays Portsmouth, Brookville takes on Lancaster and Akron meets Massillon at 9 a. m Cincinnati's Bentley Post, defending champions, drew a bye.

The field of 14 teams was narrowed to seven yesterday as Columbus, Newark, Marietta and Euclid suffered their second setbacks in the double-elimination tournament. They joined Willoughby, Toledo and Mansfield, eliminated Monday, on the sidelines.

In afternoon play yesterday, Lancaster defeated Columbus Post 82, 10-6, aided by seven errors committed by the Capital City nine Akron shut out Celina, 5-0, in the other game

In morning games, Cincinnati downed Newark, 16-10 Portsmouth took the measure of Marietta, 12-3, and Brookville eliminated Euclid, 4-2.

The 1955 Florida Derby—the winner gets $100 000—will be run at Gulfstream Park next March 26, a week later than usual. The date was changed to attract horses from California and Louisiana.

Smitty's Trips Merchants 3-0 In Tournament

Smitty's All-Stars of Marion blanked another Marion entry in one of three shutouts posted last night in district softball play at Galion.

Smitty's whitewashed Marion Merchants 3-0, while in other action, Victory Market of Mt. Vernon blanked Statler Realty of Mansfield, 2-0, and Cochran Motors of Mt. Vernon shutout Garbers Printers of Ashland, 5-0.

Bud Thorpe held the Marion Merchants to one hit as he set them down over the seven-inning route. The tilt was scoreless until the seventh when Smitty's rallied for its margin of victory.

Chuck Reid led off the frame with a hit, Saull walked and Thorpe aided his own cause when he singled to load the bases. Fritz Walters filed out to bring in the first run and Joe Paulus singled to drive in the other two. Thorpe then retired the Merchants 1-2-3 in the last of the frame to seal the win.

D. Wilcox, on the mound for the Merchants, gave up eight hits to the winners. Paulus, Thorpe and Reid each collected two hits apiece while Walters and Eddie Young both contributed a hit apiece.

In Victory Market's win over Statler Realty, Ralph Johnson of the winners fanned 15 and allowed only one hit to the losers.

One Marion team is in action tonight in tournament play. Carl's Auto Parts take on Perfection Steel Body of Galion in the second contest at 7:45 p.m. In the 6:30 p.m. opener, Sons of Herman of Mansfield will meet Westinghouse of Mansfield and in the nightcap at 9 p.m., Crestline Eagles meet Tower Vets of Shelby.

Hooper Leads In Sportsman Racing Circles

Paul Hooper of Marion is at the top of the heap in NARC Sportsman Class racing circles, according to latest figures released by the group.

The Marion driver holds a 23-point edge over his nearest rival, Bill Pedigo of Grove City, with 178 points. Following Pedigo's 155 points is Red Bales of Columbus with 129 tallies.

Marion's Ted Rambo ranks a close fourth with 128 points while other Marion and area drivers are included among the remaining 16 positions.

Holding down fifth spot is Charlie Fox with 101 points. He is followed by Clarence Ray with 91, Ed Hailey with 80, Chet Moody with 74, Emerson Sayre with 74 and Dean Mast with 66.

In 11th spot is Gene Thimmes with 62 points. Loue Louck of Marion is next with 56 while he is trailed by Jay L. Jones with 39, Roy Marcum with 39, Bobby Morgan with 38, Jim Umsted with 37, Joe Wallace with 36, Ed Moore with 35, Chet Johnson with 34 and Ron Sampson with 33.

In the Stock Class, Jay L. Jones is the leader with 70 points, Joe Erwin is in the runner-up spot with 47. He is followed by Jim Hamilton with 28, Chet Johnson with 26 and Walt Hamilton with 25.

Sixth is Chet Howard with 20. Truman Redinbaugh also has 20 for seventh while he is followed by Bob Brown with 16, Ralph Ray with 15 and Jay Endsley with 11.

Local Horse Wins Trot at Grandview

A Marion-owned trotter, R. K. Giers, captured his third Grandview Oval start in a row last night when he won the Bedford Trot.

The trotter, owned by Dr. J. G. McNamara, went the mile in 2:07 over a track that remained fast despite a light rain which fell throughout the eight-race program.

The win, which came over six other trotters, enabled driver Bob Seabrook to tie for the driving lead there with Eddie Cobb.

Frank Smith Night Set Aug. 27 at Crosley Field

Frank Smith night will be observed Aug. 27 at Crosley Field when the former pitcher for Marion's entry in the Ohio-Indiana League will be honored.

Smith's friends and neighbors from Milford, O., will be in charge of setting up the ceremony before the game between Birdie Tebbett's Redlegs and the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cincinnati relief specialist is rapidly becoming known as one of the two top National League firemen.

NEW DELAWARE COACH

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—John W. Steele of Croton has been appointed head basketball coach at Olentangy High School, replacing Bernard Cellar who became coach at Columbus North High.

ALL-AMERICA DONS

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State has produced unanimous All-America football players twice, and the first names of both the men was Don. The first was Don Coleman in 1951 and the second was Don Dohoney in 1953.

Night Harness Races Set for Crawford Fair

BUCYRUS — Crawford County fair-goers will get their first look at night harness racing tonight when the first of three night racing sessions is held.

Inauguration of the night harness racing will be the highlight of the fair's third day, fair board secretary James Gebhardt reported.

No special event is scheduled for this afternoon's program but the junior fair livestock sale will be held in the new junior fair building and arena Friday afternoon. Last night's grandstand attraction was presented by the Midwestern Hayride revue.

Tonight's racing program incides a 17-class pace, 18 class trot, 22 class pace and 22 class trot. Purse in each race is $600.

A medium-sized crowd saw the opening racing program. Two horses, owned by Alvin Gould, of Cincinnati, and driven by Lew Huber, won two of the four races. H. Bomb, a bay gelding, finished first in both heats in the two-year-old trot and King Creed, a brown colt, took both heats in the two-year-old pace.

The 30 class trot and 30 class pace were broken down into two divisions because of the large number of entries. Audrey Kuno, a bay mare, owned by Earl Belch of Columbus Grove and driven by R. Miller won the trot, and Chrisdale, driven by R. C. Cheney and owned by Frank Clevenger of Whet Cheer, Ia., took the pace.

Lieutenant Governor John W. Brown presented the Lott Motor Co. trophy and other trophy presentations were made by Harold Kibler, representing Kibler Motor Sales, Bucyrus, Walter J. Michael of the Pickwick Farms in Bucyrus and Wayne Brause; representing the Bucyrus American Legion post.

G and G Routs Clark in Pony League Contest

G & G Homes routed Clark Metal, 14-13, in a Pony League contest at Lincoln Park last night.

Hurling G & G Homes to the win was Jim Anspaugh, who allowed the losers only two hits. He fanned five while walking eight.

Ted Lindsay pitched for the losers and was greeted by 14 G & G hits. He struck out eight and walked seven.

The winners netted a run in the first, two in the second, one in the third, five in the fifth and five in the sixth. Clark Metal scored once in the second and twice in the third for its run production.

Anspaugh had three hits to pace the G & G hitting spree. Joe Welty, Bob Claypool and Tom White all contributed two hits apiece while Bob Middleton, Bob Lister, Gary Robertson, Don Conkle and Ted Anderson also added hits.

Dick Penry and Lindsay collected the lone Clark Metal hits.

Jones Seeks Fifth Straight Victory at Track in Richwood

J. L. Jones of Richwood will be seeking his fifth straight feature win in strictly stock car racing at the Richwood Speedway Thursday night.

He won the feature last week despite a hard fight from Ralph Ray of Belle Center. Jones nosed out ahead of Ray on the twenty-third lap for the win.

A field of over 30 cars is expected Thursday night. More new cars have been appearing at the Richwood Speedway each week, with a field of 30 cars on hand there last week.

The Thursday night program will include three heat races, a winners handicap, two consolation events an da 25-lap feature. First event at the Richwood Speedway, located on the Richwood fairgrounds, will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned downward today after a firm start.

Trading began fast with prices higher. Aircrafts and a wide variety of low-priced issues found good early support. Shortly after the opening the high speed ticker tape fell behind the brisk trading pace as the market spurted upward. The type cleared in a minute and a more selective tone prevailed.

Toward the end of the morning, losses began to appear among stocks which have been market leaders in recent sessions. By early afternoon, it was apparent that many investors were taking profits on many issues. The trading pace continued rapid.

Low priced stock tended to hold early gains. But steels, motors, rubbers, railroads and chemicals declined. Some losses extended to three points, but most were around a point. Aircrafts became irregular while radio-television and airline issues steadied.

Others on the downgrade were U.S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, American Telephone, American Smelting, International Paper, General Dynamics, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio and Loew's.

Holding firm were Radio Corp., Boeing, Chance Vought, American Woolen, Consolidated Natural Gas, Western Union, Paramount, Twentieth-Century Fox, Pan American Airways and Bullard.

Autographed Ike Photographs 'Secret Weapon' for Democrats

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The Democrats have some secret weapons to use in the November election war of "Eisenhower pictures."

And the ammunition was passed to them by the President himself.

Within the past two weeks, 101 Republican senators and representatives have trooped down to the White House to get their pictures taken with the President. The pictures—Eisenhower shaking hands with Republicans up for re-election—were taken on an assembly-line basis in the cabinet room.

But a year ago, some Democrats got a similar idea. They figured that the links with Eisenhower's personal popularity might be a help in certain areas. When ballot time came, one Democrat sent along to the White House a simple request for an autographed portrait.

It came back inscribed, "To Congressman X, with best wishes to a distinguished citizen" and signed by the President.

That started a flow of requests, spaced so that they did not look like a planned campaign.

At the time, the Democrats reason, the White House thought the pictures might help line up Democratic support for the President's program.

In one case, the senior member of a state delegation asked for suitably signed pictures for every Democratic member from his state. Some congressmen received what they thought were unsolicited tributes from the Chief Executive. The Democratic National Committee quickly straightened them out, however, and advised the congressmen how to stash the pictures away for future use.

No count of the number of such pictures held by Democrats has been kept, although the figure has been estimated at more than 100.

Some of them may never see the light of a newspaper campaign advertisement as each congressman who has one will use his own judgment on whether to trot out the picture or not.

The small boy, visiting at Grandma's, has finally been straightened out on the fact that he's supposed to say his prayers on vacation, too.

Insurance Agent Finds It Pays To Have Policy

CONCORD, N.C., (AP)—George Douglas Cordell, an insurance agent, parked his car in front of a client's house here yesterday.

A few minutes later he came out and the car was gone.

He found it crashed against a tree 200 feet down the street, where it had rolled. Damages $250.

Cordell said remorsefully he had no collision insurance.

COLLEGE INN COOKED WHOLE CHICKEN 31-lb. Can $1.39

from Mary Blake, Director, Carnation Home Service Department

open-faced ham and turkey sandwich

(Makes 6 Servings)

2½ cups (large can) undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups (8 oz.) grated process-type American cheese
6 slices roast turkey
6 slices baked ham
6 toasted sandwich buns, split in half

Combine Carnation and salt in saucepan over low heat. Simmer to just below boiling point; add cheese and stir over low heat until cheese is melted (about 1-2 minutes). Arrange turkey and ham slices on toasted bun halves. Pour Cheese Sauce over sandwich; garnish with olives, pickles and tomato slices. Serve at once.

Thousands To Participate

Iowa Town Plans Giant Hoover Birthday Party

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — A birthday celebration, the like of which Iowa has never before seen and probably can never duplicate, will be his native state's newest tribute to Herbert Hoover.

Thousands will gather Tuesday, August 10, in this community of 750 population, where the former President of the United States was born to a village blacksmith and his Quaker schoolteacher wife, 80 years ago.

Going All Out

Iowa is going all out to honor Hoover that day.

He comes to West Branch by special invitation, extended in formal resolution last year, by the Iowa legislature. Gov. William S Beardsley has proclaimed Aug. 10 "Herbert Hoover" day; and urged attention to the "industry, integrity and sense of public obligation which made this native Iowan one of the world's great men."

So, Tuesday will be West Branch's biggest day in years

There will be many reminders of those great times when Hoover held the highest office in the land. Associates of Hoover administration days and a number of other specially invited guests will reflect the eminence of the guest of honor.

President Eisenhower will be represented by Vice President Nixon. Among those who have made hotel reservations in nearby Iowa City and Cedar Rapids are governors, former governors, generals, college heads, close friends and relatives.

The latter will include both sons, Herbert Hoover Jr., and Allan Hoover, and their families.

Already Congress has extended its felicitations to Hoover on his 80th birthday's imminence. That was by concurrent resolution last month.

Will Get Citation

Members of the second Hoover Commission, now working on recommendations for reorganizing the executive branch of the federal government, are offering him a honorific scroll which notes:

"The new Hoover Commission and the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report present this distinguished service citation to the Honorable Herbert Hoover on the occasion of his 80th birthday, with warmest congratulations and in recognition of his unflagging devotion and out-standing contributions in behalf of federal reorganization to eradicate waste and insure better government for all Americans."

The scroll, bearing the names of 125 commission members, will be presented by John Stuart, Chicago, board chairman of Quaker Oats Co.

The State University of Iowa throws aside tradition Tuesday to join those honoring Hoover. Ordinarily it confers honorary degrees only at the inauguration of a new SUI president and then on the campus

But the university president, Virgil M Hancher, will give Hoover an honorary doctor of laws degree, and here at the birthday program.

Will Dedicate Schools

Hoover will dedicate a new elementary school named in his honor. He will revisit his birthplace cottage, now preserved as a historic shrine; attend a picnic with friends in the community park, and receive the Hoover Commission scroll.

The afternoon's formal program will include tributes in addresses. Hoover's own speech will be televised by CBS, NBC and independent Iowa TV stations and carried by the four major radio networks

Hoover then goes on to Iowa City for dedication of another Hoover school and to Cedar Rapids and Mason City for the dedication of two more.

Clown Cake Will Delight the Small Fry

Fluffy White Frosting Is Used To Shape Figure For Top of Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Advice to mothers: turn kitchen artist and make a wonderful clown cake for a small-fry party.

A friend of ours first encountered this cake at a preschool birthday party. After we tried it in our own kitchen, and it was taste-tested with glee by both young and old, we had a notion to send it traveling.

First you bake a conventional butter-type cake — the light chocolate variety youngsters like — in an oblong pan, and cover the cake with a fluffy white frosting. You probably have made this frosting before, but we are giving you the recipe for convenience sake. Next step is to mark off the clown shape with more of the white frosting, using a cake decorator. Now you pile some of the fluffy frosting inside the clown to make him fat and billowy. At this point, a thin line of chocolate frosting goes around the clown so there is no mistaking him. Finally, morsels of semisweet chocolate polka-dot his suit, and five "sourball balloons" float aloft in each hand. Or use red and green maraschino cherries, as our teenage nephew, did, when he helped decorate our cake.

To carry out the circus theme at your small-fry party, you might have the youngsters play "Pin the Tail on the Circus Animal." Of course, the winner gets a box of animal crackers. We know the pin-the-tail game is as old as the hills, but we have yet to see a preschooler who didn't adore it. So put your biase ideas aside and let the kids take over.

Some dime-store animals will make fine favors for the party table. Or you can decorate paper cups with animal cutouts and fill them with sourballs.

If you serve sandwiches before the cake, you might cut raisin bread into animal shapes with a cookie cutter and tint cream cheese pink for the filling. And don't, under any circumstances, forget the pink lemonade. Pour it into decorative mugs, if you have some, or use paper cups; in either case add candy-stick stirrers.

KITCHEN CAPERS. Clown Cake for Small-Fry Party.

CLOWN CAKE

Ingredients 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate pieces, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1 whole egg, 1 cup milk, Fluffy White Frosting, Chocolate Decorating Frosting, extra semisweet chocolate pieces, 10 small sourballs.

Method: Grease the bottom of a baking and roasting pan (about 15 by 10½ by 2¼ inches or about 13 by 9 by 2¼ inches measured across the top); line the bottom with waxed paper; grease the paper and pan sides. Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Melt 6 ounces chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Beat in egg yolks and whole egg thoroughly. Cream butter and sugar. Add sifted flour alternately to creamed mixture with milk. Stir in melted chocolate until smooth. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 35 minutes. Place pan on rack to cool. Turn out of pan onto large board covered with aluminum foil; strip off paper. Frost with Fluffy White Frosting, reserving ¼ of the frosting for clown decoration. To make clown, force reserved frosting through cake decorator to make clown outline; pile rest of frosting inside outline to resemble body. Invert extra semisweet chocolate pieces on frosting for polka dots on suit. Force Chocolate Frosting through narrow opening of cake decorator to outline clown, making facial features and costume detail. Use sourball hard candies for balloons. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

FLUFFY WHITE FROSTING

Put 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, dash of salt, 1-3 cup water and 2 teaspoons light corn syrup in the dop of a double boiler; stir well. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat with sturdy hand rotary beater or electric mixer until frosting will stand in stiff peaks — this will take from to 6 minutes, depending on type of beater. Remove from water and add 1 teaspoon vanilla; beat until thick enough to spread.

CHOCOLATE DECORATING FROSTING

Melt one-half of a 6-ounce package ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces and 1½ teaspoon shortening over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Stir in 3 tablespoons evaporated milk and ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar; beat until smooth.

It is not absolutely necessary in establishing new seedings of blue grass to have the ground covered with a mulch such as prairie grass or straw. Wheat straw or saw dust will work.

Try Serving Savories for Snacktimes

Thrifty Norway Kippers Make Delicious Treats For Refreshments

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Serve a savory when you bring guests cool porch or garden refreshment this summer.

In England a savory means "a small dish or a course, usually served at the end of a dinner in contrast to the sweet, consisting of a highly seasoned concoction." Americans serve their savories as afternoon or evening pickups, or before a meal — any time, that is, except as a last course at dinner! In England, too, a savory may mean something as elaborate and filling as a cheese fondue; in the United States, we are more likely to use the word for well-seasoned spreads or other foods served on a ase of toast, crackers or pastry.

Market shelves are full of possibilities for savories and kipper snacks, from Norway, are one of the most interesting and inexpensive of these. Recently we made three different savories from these thrifty kipper snacks with pleasing results. Here are the recipes

CREAM CHEESE AND KIPPER SAVORIES

Ingredients: One 3¼ ounce can Norway kipper snacks, one 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1½ teaspoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice), salt and freshly-ground pepper, small round crackers, pimiento-stuffed olives.

Method: Lift kippers from oil in can carefully; scrape off skin with small sharp knife; mash kippers. Add cream cheese and onion; mix thoroughly. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes about ¾ cup; use 1 tablespoon of the spread to mound on a cracker, garnish with a thin mound of olive. Makes 12 savories.

KIPPER TOAST SAVORIES

Ingredients: One 3¼-ounce can Norway kipper snacks, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type relish sandwich spread, 8 slices bread, butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons tomato catchup.

Method: Lift kippers from oil in can carefully; scrape off skin with sharp knife; mash kippers. Add mayonnaise; mix thoroughly. Makes ½ cup. Toast bread lightly and spread with butter at once. Quickly spread each slice of buttered toast with 1 tablespoon of the kipper mixture; cut each toast slice into 3 finger lengths. Dribble ¼ teaspoon of catchup down center of each toast finger. Serve at once; or keep warm for short length of time. Makes 24 savories.

Note: If desired, remove crusts from toast before spreading with kipper mixture.

BROILED KIPPER SAVORIES

Ingredients One 3-ounce can Norway kipper snacks, 16 square salted crackers (2 by 2 inches), butter or margarine, 3 small tomatoes, ¼ pound ready-sliced cheddar cheese, paprika.

Method: Lift kippers from oil in can carefully; scrape off skin with small sharp knife; flake with a fork. Butter crackers; sprinkle each with about 1 teaspoon flaked kipper; top with a slice of tomato and a small square of cheese; dust with paprika. Broil until cheese melts. Serve at once. Makes 16 savories.

Disturbing Clock

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. — (UP) —The hourly booming of the Town Hall clock in nearby Harrietstown is driving visitors out of Saranac Lake, according to the local Chamber of Commerce.

The issue came up at a recent meeting of the chamber when one member said the clock's marking of the hours is the subject of complaints from vacationers in this resort city. He said, "It's driving people crazy."

Conferences to seek a remedy will be held with the Harrietstown supervisor.

TOO GOOD

SYDNEY — (INS)—Trans-Australia Airlines has decided to remove the automatic pilots from its airliners operating short range services. A company official explained that the automatic pilot is "too good for the good of the human pilots" who tended to "lose the feel" of their aircraft.

Children Given Break

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (UP) — Youngsters are going to get a break during the first two days of the New York state fair, Sept. 4-11.

Those under 12 years of age will be admitted free to the fairgrounds the first two days. After that the admission for them will be 35 cents.

The 108th edition of the exposition will feature a salute to the state's dairy industry.

CAT AND MOUSE

ALBANY — (UP)—Louis Oettlin of nearby Catskill reports that his cat, Rusty, who had lost two of her three kittens, brought home a 11½-inch field mouse alive and made a home for it in the woodshed box where she lived with her surviving kitten.

Lengthy Chow Line

AUSTIN, Tex. — (UP)—Blackie a big mother cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Owen Schnell, took care of three species.

In addition to two kittens of her own, Blackie fed a puppy and five skunks.

Schnell found the skunks, apparently abandoned by their mother. The pup wandered in and joined the mess line.

RICKENBACKER PLANE

BARRE, Mass. — (UP) — Mrs. Catherine Hiller, a young widow, regularly flies a 37-year-old French biplane that Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker flew during World War I. It's okay, she says, but the open cockpit is "a bit drafty."

Answer to Red Menace

Vietnamese Student Puts Hope, Faith in Education

NEW YORK (NANA) — Thousands of miles from his unhappy homeland, a slight, cheerful Vietnamese student today was completing the training here which he hopes will start both himself and Indochina on the long, hard road back.

One of Vietnam's few scholars enrolled at American colleges and universities, Dominic Do-Vem-Qui himself symbolizes what he said in an interview would have been the answer long ago to communism in Asia—education. It's still a powerful, potential tool, he said, and can ultimately defeat communism more surely than the A-bomb if we will use it.

NEXT YEAR, he will return to Indochina as a priest—his job to teach. He has been studying at St. Joseph's Seminary and at Fordham University.

He expects to go back to a country both bitter and divided, but he isn't discouraged. The Vietnam people are bitter, he feels, because they believe the West has let them down.

"The tragedy is that the Communists' victories are there waiting for them" he said. "Vietnam wanted independence, education, all sorts of social reforms. Illiteracy is high, perhaps as high as 90 per cent in the country.

"As late as 1947 perhaps the country could have been saved from the Communists. But the Vietminh became very popular. These nationalists seemed to offer independence and everything else. Actually, the Communists will give nothing, certainly not freedom."

An educated Indochina, he added, could have more effectively resisted the Red inroads. While he doesn't think force is any longer of any use, he believes education and a vigorously practiced Christianity ("prayer alone is not enough"") will still defeat communism.

THE STUDENT SAID he has slight hope for the present of returning to his own northern, Red-controlled section of Vietnam, which the Communists will occupy by agreement and where his mother and brother still live. Nonetheless, he thinks that his work as well as that of other teachers will spread under and behind the bamboo curtain, and the iron for that matter.

He said he has been informed that an amazing amount of democratic and religious education even now is going on under the very noses of the Communists, in the lands dominated by them.

Do-Vem-Qui was educated at the seminary at Quan-Pruong. It is now in Vietminh hands, and he does not even like to speculate on what has happened to the priests.

HE DOES RECEIVE letters from his mother, although she must of necessity write cautiously, so he does not have an exact picture of what is happening at home.

An excellent student, Do-Vem-Qui has become generally Americanized in his dress and mannerisms. Paradoxically, he is far more cheerful in discussing the future of his country than the average American.

He had taken pains to read up on American customs before he came over so any possible shock was blunted. Our "cold" food at first made him sick, used to highly seasoned meals as he was.

"Over here you are all so very fortunate," he says. "I wonder if you realize how fortunate?"

As a Vietnamese, Do-Vem-Qui should certainly know.

TOO FRIENDLY

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Patrolman Jack Eagle finally got tired of a brown shaggy dog meeting him at the same corner every morning and following him as he made his rounds on his motorcycle. Eagle "arrested" the dog and took it to the pound.

LISTS PROFITS. Morris Cafritz, one of the nation's top builders, tells Senate housing investigators about his real estate dealings under the Federal Housing authority. He said his firm collected $500,000 on a $3,563,000 loan.

FIRST OFFENDERS

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. (INS)— Among the first citizens to receive traffic tickets after Phillipsburg Public Safety Director George Stewart ordered a crackdown on overtime parking were Stewart and Mayor Francis B. Moule.

Hotel Train Parking Lot Is No Longer Available

BURKE, Ida. — (UP) — The famous old Tiger Hotel, which often had a railroad train parked in its lobby, is gone.

The famous landmark built in 1887 has been torn down.

Not only did the Tiger claim to be unique because the railroad ran through it, but it also had a river under it.

This town of 600 persons is built in a canyon so narrow there was not room for both a main street and the railroad. So the tracks were built right up the street.

Once five passenger trains daily toiled up to the North Idaho lead and zinc mines. Now there is just one ore car a day.

And the hotel's "beanery," which once fed 1,200 persons, is no longer there for the engineer to eat in while he parks his train in the lobby.

Freed for Campaign

GROTAN, S. D. (UP) — The friends and neighbors of Kenneth Holum made hay for him while he was away making political hay.

Holum is a Democratic candidate for U. S. senator in opposition to Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.).

To free Holum from the chore of putting up hay on his farm so he could campaign, his neighbors and friends — Democrats and Republicans alike — put up his hay this summer.

TOO MUCH EXPERIENCE

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (UP) —A 26-year-old man, captured inside a Fort Worth tavern, learned there are certain hazards to the profession he chose As he explained to police: "I'm just tired of working for a living and wanted to get some burglary experience in here."

ANSWERS EMERGENCY CALL

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — (UP) —The Dutch boy who plugged the held an overheated and loose wire had nothing on James Smith, an electrician who saved a local Civil Defense drill. After a last-minute power failure knocked out, among other things, all the warning sirens in the hookup, Smith and another electrician located the trouble in an electric meter. Smith held an overheated and loose wire in position while the sirens sounded exactly on time.

EATING OUT

WERNERSVILLE, Pa. (INS) — Americans spend between 10 and 11 billions a year "eating out." Actually, according to home economist Katherine R. Smith, restaurants take an estimated one-fifth of each dollar spent for food.

Senators Face Decision

Was Lustron Deal Improper or Merely 'Bunk,' as McCarthy's Friends Call It?

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

WASHINGTON (NANA) — what is the so-called "Lustron deal" that has risen from his past to haunt Sen Joe McCarthy?

To such McCarthy friends as Sen. Herman Welker (R., Idaho), it is "a lot of bunk," the sort of misconstruction that might hurt any man in public life (he cites ex-Crime-Hunter Estes Kefauver and ex-General Dwight Eisenhower as examples) who sold the story of his official experiences.

TO SUCH McCARTHY critics as Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D., Ark.), the "deal" is item one in a tabulation of McCarthy errors justifying an almost-unprecedented vote of McCarthy censure by his senate collagues.

Both sides get their basic facts from the 400-page report on McCarthy's finances released in January of 1953 by the Senate rules subcommittee on privileges and elections. It is today required text for those who want to decide, as 95 fellow senators may have to, whether Joe McCarthy was right or did wrong.

The Lustron Corp., the document reports, was an ambitious venture in prefabricated housing to solve the postwar shortage, particularly of veterans' homes. Started in 1947, it failed in 1950. Down the drain with it went approximately $30,000,000 of $37,500,000 advanced in seven loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation between June 30, 1947 and Aug. 29, 1950.

While these loans were being made, McCarthy was a member of the senate banking and currency committee, which holds the reins on both RFC and housing legislation, and also vice chairman of a joint Senate-House committee investigating the housing shortage. As a senator, he backed legislation authorizing the RFC, over its initial objections, to go into Lustron and specifically providing for a pay raise for the then Housing and Home Finance Administrator, Raymond Foley.

Simultaneously, according to Foley's later testimony, McCarthy was collecting data for a book. He sent his then assistant, Miss Jean Kerr (now his wife) to the HHFA where, at Foley's direction experts compiled the data for a pamphlet advising veterans on home possibilities.

THIS WAS THE "book" McCarthy sold for $10,000 to Lustron. The company's president, Carl Strandlund, admitted that, although it was not yet in "publishable form," he bought the manuscript from McCarthy in October of 1948 without consulting his public relations men or any other member of his executive staff.

The October date was midway between the second and third of the seven RFC loans which, approved by McCarthy's committee, ultimately reached the $37,500,000 total of government investment in Lustron.

But there was a postscript to the "Lustron story," an account, documented by checks and brokerage records, of what McCarthy did with the $10,000 and how he made it grow.

The senator needed money. The Appleton State Bank of Appleton, Wisconsin had told him in September 1948 that his debt, totaling $72,964.96, exceeded the legal state limit for such personal debts and had to be reduced. But he did not give the $10,000 check to the bank.

Instead, he endorsed it to Wayne Hummer Co., a brokerage firm, in part payment for shares of Seaboard Airlines Railroad common stock. The railroad had been in receivership since 1930 and its stock was selling for $2 a share. The committee report observed, "it (Seaboard stock) did not appear to an investor, or to the uninformed, to be either a good investment or a good speculation."

But Senator McCarthy thought otherwise. The railroad the committee noted, owed $15,000,000 to the RFC, which therefore knew what was going on inside the company. Senator McCarthy indicated that he too had some knowledge unusual commendation in a letter to the president — the committee uncovered and published — which he said, "my friends tell me it is one of the best investments on the board."

THE "FRIENDS" proved right. As the stock soared toward its ultimate $135 peak, the senator sold out for a net profit of $8,610.75.

That was the "Lustron deal." About it, the subcommittee asked questions.

How did the senator justify accepting $10,000 from a company dependent entirely on the RFC which, in turn was dependent on the Senate committee of which he was a member?

Did he take advantage of the "sensitive" Lustron position to persuade Staundlund to buy his unfinished manuscript?

Was there a connection between the $10,000 fee and McCarthy's recommendations for government aid to prefabricated housing?

Was there a relationship between the senator's position on the banking committee and his receipt of inside information on Seaboard Railways?

Was it ethical for McCarthy to ask for a pay raise for the federal official who got together for him the information for his book?

These are questions the censure-conscious Senate must now weigh.

POLIO PATIENT AT HOME

Beverly Ann Everett, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Everett of New Bloomington and a polio patient since 1948, is at home following a double operation. The surgery on both lower limbs was done recently at White Cross Hospital in Columbus, and she was brought home Friday. She will be in a cast eight weeks.

News of Servicemen

Marion R. Chadwick, hospital corpsman first class, USN, is serving aboard the escort vessel USS Lewis, a new type of anti-submarine warfare escort vessel operating in the San Diego, Calif., area. He has been assigned to the supply division where his principal duties consist of caring for the sick and injured. Chadwick is the son of Mrs. Mary G. Chadwick of Upper Sandusky.

Pvt. Charles Edward Eckard Jr. of 303 W. Center St. is spending a 14-day furlough with his family. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Eckard Sr. of DeCliff, O., he recently completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. With the 3rd Armored Division, he is to report Aug. 13 to Ft. Meade, Md. His wife is the former Josephine Gholson. They have a son, Kevin Allen.

—:—

Roy E. Hoffman, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rech of 530 Mound St., is currently serving aboard the destroyer USS Harwood. A former Star carrier, Hoffman attended Harding High School and entered the Navy in December, 1953. Following boot training at Bainbridge, Md., he went to Yorktown, Va., for Naval mine warfare schooling. He then went to Newport, R.I., his home base, from where he went on his first cruise aboard the Harwood.

—:—

Army Sgt. Arthur E. Skatzes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Skatzes of Delaware, recently arrived in Munich, Germany, where he has been assigned to the 5th Infantry Division. A mechanic with 3rd Battalion headquarters of the division's 2nd Regiment, Sgt. Skatzes arrived in Europe during November, 1952, and was last stationed in Orleans, France, with the 7805th Army Unit. In the Army since 1940, he holds the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Good Conduct Medal, European-African Middle Eastern Theater Ribbons and the UN and Korean Service Ribbons.

—:—

Pvt. Richard E. Peters recently reported to Ft. Benning, Ga., after spending a 14-day furlough with his parents and wife here. He entered the service Oct. 19, 1953 and took his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., prior to being assigned to the Military Police at Ft. Benning. He is a 1951 graduate of Harding High School and was employed at the Huber Manufacturing Co. prior to entering the service.

—:—

Raymond E. Siemmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Siemmons of near Richwood, was recently promoted to corporal while serving in Korea with the IX Corps. The 21-year-old Richwood corporal, who arrived overseas last December, is a helicopter section chief in the corps' 4th Light Air Section. Before entering the Army in April, 1953, he was a mechanic with McDaniels Tractor Sales.

—:—

Marine Pfc. Richard E. Yarger of Russells Point, O., is undergoing a specialized type of training with an amphibious reconnaissance company at the Marine Corps Air Station at Kaneohe Bay, T. H. The company, attached to the 1st Provisional Marine Air-Ground Task Force, is being taught submarine escape procedures by men of the Pearl Harbor submarine base. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Stout of Russells Point.

Arlo J. Brown, engineman second class, USN, of near Bucyrus was among those with units of the U. S. Pacific Fleet which participated in naval and amphibious war games off the coast of Southern California during June. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Brown of near Bucyrus, was aboard the attack cargo ship USS Merrick. The amphibious task force comprised approximately 60 ships, 80 aircraft and 12,000 men.

—:—

Pvt. Jesse F. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith of Merkel Ave., is serving with the 3rd Infantry Division in Korea. Smith, overseas since last August, is an ammunition handler in Service Battery of the division's 58th Field Artillery Battalion. Before entering the Army in February, 1953, he worked for the Marion Plating Works.

LESS TROUBLE

NEW YORK (INS) — You can take the word of the American Automobile Association for it, motorists had less trouble in 1953 than in 1952. The AAA said some 41 million calls were placed for aid by motorists during 1953, more than a million less than in 1952.

SHE WEDS BLIND SKATER. Even though John Rodriguez, 23, appears to be gazing into the eyes of his bride, Irma Maldonado, 20, in New York, he cannot see her. He is blind. They met at a Queen's roller rink, where she volunteered to teach him to skate. Romance developed. Rodriguez operates a newsstand in Manhattan.

Aussies Want Television for Christmas Gift

SYDNEY — (UP)—Folks "Down Under" are looking forward to an extra special Christmas gift in 1955 and today they're making ready to enjoy it. It's television.

Ausie voters sent a coalition Conservative government back into power May 29, confident that Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies would see it their way and give them TV in time for the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne.

When the new parliament meets, its first session is expected to consider a report and recommendations by the royal commission on television. The commission, a kind of public inquiry on the government's behalf, suggested that TV stations operate here in 18 months or two years.

Meanwhile, the anxious public is getting down-to-earth facts about prices of receivers and possible programs, and the nation's electronics industry sets itself to catch up with the rest of the world and provide the best equipment money can buy.

Ambitious speculators, mindful that Australia is the only major nation without television, have flooded the governing Australian Broadcasting Control Board with more than 100 applications for TV broadcasting licenses, although the board has not yet called for applications. Most of them will be disappointed because only 14 commercial stations are presently envisaged.

Sydney and Melbourne probably will have TV first, with one national and two commercial stations each. Capital cities of the other four states are not likely to have their own stations for four or five years.

Production experts say commercial television stations could be "on the air" in Melbourne and Sydney, and locally-made receiving sets on sale in quantity, nine months to a year after issuance of licenses. But nothing can be done until specific TV technical standards are fixed, and that won't be for several months.

The government-sponsored Australian Broadcasting Commission estimates it could operate its first TV station within two years, probably in Sydney. However, it's unlikely the independently run commercial stations will have to wait for the national stations to make a simultaneous start.

Locally made TV receiving sets, with screens of about 17 inches will cost, at first, about $360, plus $40 for aerial and installation costs.

Sacramento Seeking To Save Last Station of Pony Express

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (UP) —Preservation of the old Pony Express station, the last stop on the 2,000-mile run from St. Joseph, Mo., has begun here by a special committee.

The color, danger and continual hardship of the relay horseback rides across the desert and mountains to bring the mail to the far west has been uncovered in some of the mementoes found in the dark, dusty building part of Sacramento's "skid row."

The Historic Landmark Commission, created by Sacramento's city council to catalogue contents of the old building and decide the feasibility of turning it into a museum, has turned up several old maps outlining the original route of the Pony Express.

Each point on the maps, from St. Jo via Salt Lake City and over the Sierra Nevada to California has its own stories of heroism and super-human effort of the men bringing the mail to California in 10 days.

One of the most legendary of these tales is the story of the 380-mile ride of Pony Bob Haslam, one of the most famous of the riders.

Haslam started at Reeds Station on the Carson River, Nev., and rode round trip across most of the state to Bucklands, Nev., now known as Ft. Churchill. He made the ride on the offer of a $50 bonus after other men refused to try to get through stepped-up Ute Indian raids in the area.

At each of the stations between the two points Haslam found the bodies of station-keepers, sometimes freshly scalped. At one stop even the horses were missing, so Haslam rode his tired mount on another 30-odd miles to the next station where he found a change.

After a few hours rest he made the return trip. And back at Reed's Station 380 miles, two days and many horses later, Haslam remarked, "If it hadn't been for the doggone excitement, I'd be tired."

Buffalo Bill Cody held the record for the longest non-stop ride, however. Cody rode 322 miles, stopping only to change mounts, on a round trip between Red Butte and Rocky Ridge, Wyo., on another Pony Express route. At one point he crossed the North Platte River three times in less than a mile to avoid desperadoes. He averaged 15 miles an hour on the run.

The move to preserve the Pony Express station here comes after one failure. The building, a two-story brick and stone structure, was given to the city in 1939. It was kept open by a series of old city pensioners.

But it was closed a year ago because "only two or three persons a week came to see it," City Manager Bart Cavanaugh said.

Big Lake Under Desert

French Tap Wells, Hope To Make Sahara Oases

NEW YORK (NANA) — The French government is seeking to make the camel caravans feel as out of place in the Sahara desert as they would on Paris' Champs-Elysees.

Instead of endless sand travelers on the great North African wasteland will see small oases spotting the horizon within a generation, if a French project is successful. The plan is to make the desert moist by irrigating small sections from artesian wells tapping a 100,000,000-acre subterranean lake underlying the red dunes just east of the Atlas mountains.

A dispatch Informaciones, important Madrid daily, reports that the French Ministry of Overseas Territories is pushing ahead the project of well drilling to create 1,500 new oases of 500 acres each. Under the program, the nomadic Berber Tribes that roam the desert will be settled on date farms. Each plantation is expected to provide a livelihood to some 1,000 natives.

The reclamation project for the French part of the desert was initiated shortly after World War II, when officials of the overseas territories in Paris unearthed a 30-year-old report that a lake as big as all France lay under the Sahara. French colonial officials, with government funds, struck water with their first drilling.

Since then, another deep well has paid off 300 miles south of Algiers, and a third 200 miles still farther south proved productive. One of the wells has produced some 1,600 barrels of water per second since last January. Twelve drilling rigs are now at work.

According to the old report, the great subterranean lake has been forming over 2,000 years.

Danish Cabinet Member Likes Big Families, Has 9 Children

COPENHAGEN — (UP) — The bigger the family, the closer the ties, says Mrs. Lis Groes, one of Denmark's two women cabinet members and mother of nine.

"Birth control certainly has made life easier for women," said the attractive, 43-year-old Minister of Commerce. "But on the other hand, life is completely changed when there is a big family.

"It is impossible to generalize, but our children have always had what they needed of food and clothing," said Mrs. Groes, whose nine range in age from 13 to 17. All told, counting a nephew and another couple living in the household, Mrs. Groes has a "family" of 14 to plan for.

"The bigger the family, the better the solidarity between parents and children," she continued. "Our children get their edges worn off and their independence developed. And they never get bored."

"I was an only child and I found it lonely," said Mrs. Groes. "I decided to have a nest full of children when I got married. I hadn't exactly thought it'd be nine, but . . . well, they came by degrees so to speak."

The other woman cabinet member, Mrs. Bodil Koch, Minister of Ecclesiastics, has four children.

Mrs. Groes, a political economist and one-time chairman of the Danish Women Consumers' Council, begins her day at 7 a.m., planning with the two maids the "consumer's routine" for the day. One of the greatest problems is the morning bath. The family's suburban villa has 14 rooms, and one bathroom. Mrs. Groes said she set up a schedule which the grownups and the children—Niels, Arne, Mette, Lise, Inge, Uffe, Birthe, Tyge and Eske—adhere to.

Mrs. Groes' official driver, Olaf Mathiesen, who picks up the minister each morning, has been entrusted with the task of feeding the three youngest children in the rush hour.

But the flaxen-haired, blue-eyed children have to get along without her most of the day. One of the ironical gifts they presented her on her appointment was a poster, highly popular in Danish homes, which said:

"What is home without a mother"

She carries her own breakfast to the parliament restaurant, and buys a glass of milk to go with it.

When at eight or nine in the evening she arrives home, there may be little supper left. One meal takes nine pounds of potatoes, but the children seem to be non-stop eaters.

"The other night," she said, "all the sausages were gone, but I had a little mashed potatoes and a mathematical puzzle placed in front of me by Niels."

Los Angeles metropolitan area claims 2,100,000 cars, more than any other city.

Program Gives Inventors Chance To Show Genius

LONDON (NANA) — In Britain, no inventor however poor or unknown need hide his light under a bushel.

In the last six and-a-half years, a special TV program which exists solely for publicizing new inventions has brought something like 12,000 potential millionaires out of the woods.

The program, which appears once a month, is called 'TV's Inventors Club and runs for 30 minutes. It was invented and organized by a thin, gray-haired, humorous englishman called Leslie Hardern, who runs the program as a spare time project.

THE CLUB HAS shown over 500 inventions and something like a quarter of them, Hardern said today, can now be bought in stores all over the world.

The program has a peak listening figure and claims to be the only BBC television show which has never received a single adverse press review.

Although mainly British inventions are shown, the program is open to all comers. The idea is not only to give inventors a chance but to implement Britain's export drive. All inventions must be patented before they are shown and must be available to any manufacturer who may want to promote their sale both in Britain and overseas. Nothing can be televised which has already been contracted for, advertising must be kept off the air at all costs under British broadcasting regulations.

Among foreign inventions shown has been a neat little model theatre made by a Spaniard. Each new scene could be turned up like the page of a book and automatically synchronized with music played by an attached phonograph record.

A Czech invention was an eight-wheeled baby carriage. The two back wheels were "normal" but three wheels on each side of the front of the carriage were so placed that the buggy were always horizontal whether the mother was wheeling it down a flight of steps or pulling it up a hill.

Once every six weeks Hardern and his staff, which includes two fulltime technical assessors, look over something like three dozen inventions.

INVENTORS MUST FIRST of all write in describing their gadget and enclosing photographs or drawings of it. All letters are opened at the registry of the BBC. This is Hardern's own idea to lull any suspicion inventors might have that everything is not above board. When the program first started he was offered anything from a cut of the royalties to hard cash from inventors anxious to see their gadgets televised.

The registry go through everything and eliminates about half. Three main reasons for elimination are that the invention is quite impracticable; that there is no market for it, or because a similar object is already on sale in the stores.

Hardern's two technical assessors together with other experts go through the remaining 50 per cent and reduce the pile to about 20.

The inventors still in the running are invited to a preview and exhibit and explain their gadgets to an audience of other inventors, reporters and BBC officials. These previews eliminate another two-thirds and the 8 or 9 left get on the program.

All the major firms in Britain look in on the program and it is hardly off the air before phone calls, letters and wires start arriving at the studios, asking about possibilities of marketing some of the inventions shown.

Hardern then advises the inventors on the best agreements they can make with manufacturers and generally keeps an advice bureau for inventors running all the time. All this service is absolutely free. Hardern doesn't make a nickel out of it.

Only about one in 20 inventions comes from a woman although many men who have submitted inventions conerned the idea was suggested by their wives or sisters.

WOMEN WHO DO turn up generally invent improved office or kitchen equipment. A hotel proprietress has been so successful with her vegetable shaper which turns potatoes and carrots into exotic shapes after they have been cooked that she plans to give up her business and devote her whole time to bigger and better vegetable shapers.

A Blackpool man invented a new way of joining tubes and pipes which has captured a world market. Instead of pipes having to be broken open to repair a section the unions can now be freed with a tap on a lever.

A London Gardener, fed up with the way labels on fruit trees and shrubs disintegrated during bad weather, invented a plastic label-holder which becomes wax-sealed when a match is applied to the end.

Among other money making brainwaves has been a nondrip teaspout, a noncollapsible deck chair and a door lock which throws out the latch key if you forget and leave it in the keyhole.

One invention sent in got no further than the amused Hardern. It was a special chemical powder made by an elderly Londoner which he said did away with the use of parachutes. People preparing to fly merely put a little of his powder in their pockets and when the time came to bale out they merely stepped from the plane and glided gently to earth.

Meat-Short Israel Given U.S. Aid Under 'Operation Cowboy'

TEL AVIV — (UP) — "Cowboys" have come to the Holy Land to stay.

Meat is almost worth its weight in gold to the treasury. A meat ration for the whole population means a boat-load of frozen beef from Abyssinia or on the hoof from Yugoslavia — another dose of foreign currency spending to send up the temperature of an unhealthy trade balance.

Thus meat-rations (100 grams per head) arrive on festivals and Independence Day. The rest of the year, a small minority of well-to-do families eat local beef at seven times the price of the rationed. The overwhelming part of the population does without. Tourists hardly notice the acute shortage of meat because hotels serve mutton for lunch and cutlets at dinner. The motto is "give the tourists all you've got."

A hope for the return of meat to middle-class tables is now within sight. A major project undertaken with United States' grant-in-aid is the improvement of natural pasture and the creation of beef herds.

"Operation Cowboy" has just begun to get into stride. On the American side, its organizers were Wayne Miles of Illinois and Albin (Bud) Molohon of Montana. Both grew up on the range and managed land - improvement schemes and taught stockbreeding.

They were "loaned" to Israel under the program of U. S. technical and economic aid which at present has 45 technicians spurring the progress of enterprises in the complete field of Israeli development.

Molohan's ideas on stock-raising coincided with a pet peeve of the agriculture ministry—that countless acres of grazelands were being wasted for lack of ranchers to manage the cattle. Travel around Galilee, and you will see rolling hills covered with fine grasses which once fed Arab herds. The new immigrant farmers don't know how to raise cattle.

Holohan gave generously of his experience to help the Galilee peasants grow beef. He started the same project in Jordan where centuries of cattle-raising by father-to-son methods have lowered the quality of herds and eaten the grazing bare.

The first step in "Operation Cowboy" was to launch a grass farm, the first in the Middle East. Hired labor all over the country collects grass seeds for planting at the farm. Native Harding grass, tough and drought-resistant, forms the main crop.

When Australian soldiers were billeted in Palestine during World War II, they saw Harding grass grow man-high with two inches of rainfall and took home as much seed as they could carry. Today, Australia exports Harding seed to the United States for planting in arid pastureland.

Re-seeding of some 80 per cent of Israel's total grazing ranges has been scheduled for the next few years. The fodder yield from hill territory must be supplemented in the dry summer by hay and cattle cake. Irrigated pasture has therefore become an essential part of the mixed farm.

The next problem was the training of "cowboys." The U. S. operations mission and the ministry of agriculture jointly planned a big ranch on the northern shores of Lake Tiberias, near Capernaum, where there is lush grass and enough spring-water to irrigate pasture.

During 1954, a herd of 2,000 sheep and 300 American heifers will be introduced gradually to the range after acclimating and quarantine. Farmers from settlements anxious to raise stock will train for a year on the ranch.

They have begun to re-seed, fence and fit up a homestead from a deserted hospice on the shore. The plane typifies conditions to hundreds of villages whose land can't be used for anything but grazing.

The Arab strains of cows and sheep, which withstand tick-fever and blazing sun, will be crossed with the imported stock to increase the wool and meat yield. Sums invested in the ranch must be repaid out of profits, for the idea is not only to equip a field pilot-plant, but to prove the feasibility of livestock production.

Large Breakfasts Prove Beneficial for Chickens

CHESHAM, N. H. (UP) — Take a tip from a couple of chicks and start eating hearty breakfasts.

Experiments at Wells Memorial School here involved four chicks. Two were fed breakfasts of fruit, cereal, egg, toast and milk. The other chicks started their mornings with lighter meals, toast and cocoa, or just cereal.

Nutrition records showed little differences in weights of the pairs of chicks. But the better-fed pair were remarkably superior in their behavior, dispositions and appearances.

Threat of Reds At Minimum in Tropical Africa

LEOPOLDVILLE (UP) — With Communism entrenched as the West's No. 1 threat in Asia, the four European powers administering tropical Africa are working hard to keep the Red menace out of this strategic colonial region.

According to informed sources here, Communist proselytizing among the some 100,000,000 Africans south of the Sahara so far has been slight. The main Cominform campaign has been along Africa's Mediterranean fringe.

Officially, the sole Iron Curtain agent is a lone Czech consular representative in this booming European-type city of the Belgian Congo. A survey of centers in west-central Africa — including Accra on the Gold Coast and Luanda, Portuguese West Africa —also failed to turn up any important traces of Communist propagandizing or infiltration. However, the authorities obviously were trying to head off conditions which might breed Communism in a strategic area rich in uranium, cobalt, manganese and other vital minerals.

As the king-pin of the latter-day industrial revolution hitting tropical Africa, Belgium is leading the way among colonial regions in lessening the vast gap between the education, pay and housing of blacks and whites.

Although free of the festering racial troubles of Kenya and the Union of South Africa, West Africa faces problems stemming from the awakening nationalism and low standard of living of the Africans. Economically, for example, it is estimated the per capita yearly income of the tropical African is $50. Much of the farming is on scant subsistence level. the only independent countries on the coast are Liberia and the Union of South Africa.

Britain, France and Portugal are all working in their own way toward the necessary improvement of the African's lot on the west coast. Some of the most striking progress, however, is here in steaming Leopoldville, where the 280,000 native inhabitants drive the trucks and taxis, and do much of the plumbing, electrical and other secondary technical work of a modern city. Leopoldville's total population of nearly 300,000 is double what it was six years ago.

To ease the slum like congestion of the "Belge," Leopoldville native quarter where more than 200,000 Africans live under a 9 p.m. curfew, the government now is putting up more than 20,000 prefabricated concrete bungalows on the outskirts of the city.

Families may buy the houses for as little as $2 per month. Two industrial schools and an art school are supported by the government and are run by male religious orders. There are cheap or costless health services.

The huge private companies of the Belgian Congo are also contributing to the welfare of their native employes. At present, it has all added up to a point where the African in Leopoldville is healthy looking, reasonably well-dressed, hard working and usually the proud possessor of a bicycle.

Michigan Grows Bigger, Tastier English Walnut

SOUTH HAVEN Mich — (UP) —Goody Tolles, a retired Michigan State College zoology professor says he has produced a bigger and tastier English walnut on his farm near here

Nuts are an uncommon crop in Michigan, but Tolles said he is growing pecans, hicans, filberts, hickory nuts black walnuts and English walnuts—his prize variety

The English walnut first was found along the Polish - Ukraine border he said But it made its way to this country through Canada and thrives easily.

Tolles said his nut—technically known as the Carpathian English walnut—outclasses the familiar California-type nut He said his variety is much larger and has a better flavor.

Problem of Bears Confronts Farmers

OLYMPIA, Wash — (UP) — Washington tree farmers are confronted with a serious menace to their crops of young trees which replenish logged-over areas of the giant forests

The menace is the black bear population. It seems the bears have uncontrollable sweet teeth when the sap flows in the spring

The black bear population is estimated at four bears to every 160 acres in many timber sections of western Washington Tree farmers find one of the most harmful effects of bears is the animals' choice in selecting trees 20 to 30 years old to tear apart These are the trees just coming into seed-bearing age

Damage and killing of these trees by bears eliminates a seed source vital to the timber industry The seeds as well as seedling trees are needed to restock the land on which future forests are to stand

A campaign is on to wipe out the bear population with guns and poison.

'Mulberries' Urged

Breakwater Suggested To Revive Fishing Area

BOSTON (NANA) — Patterned closely after the famed World War II "Mulberries" of Omaha Beach, a radical project to attract fish back to Atlantic coastal waters has been proposed by a representative of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

As the allied command sunk scores of ships and barges to create a long artificial breakwater for the invasion of Normandy, so would surplus hulls be scuttled on Georges Bank, historic fishing grounds some 80 miles east of Cape Cod. For over a century the mecca of fishermen from as far away as Spain, it is as close to being fished-out as any section of an ocean can be.

FISHING VESSELS now have to go farther and farther across the gray swells of the Atlantic to find sizable schools—to the Grand Banks and beyond. As a result fishermen are working in the backyard of other countries, including even Iceland. And the United States' fishing industry is in the doldrums, with boats laid up and unemployment mounting in our fishtowns.

Here's the solution of Boris O. Knake, veteran mariner and fishery methods and equipment specialist of the Department of the Interior:

Young fish need a kind of underwater forest to grow and thrive in if they are not to be devoured by their larger finned enemies. They must have vegetation and rocks to scurry under.

Scores of years of dragging nets over the shallow Georges Bank—60 fathoms or less—has swept it relatively clean. It extends over hundreds of square miles of shifting wastes. Fish have had to migrate north and east in search of sanctuaries.

However, if obstructions were placed around the banks, vegetation will return, the fish will again be attracted by the beckoning refuge, Knake said.

"Tow out old ships," continued Knake, who first went to sea on a Norwegian square-rigger. "Goodness knows we have plenty of rusting old Liberties from the war! Let the Air Force use them for target practice. Close off an area as large as we have ships to sink.

"THEN MAKE IT a fish sanctuary for a time. Soon you would find the natural ocean bottom has been restored and schools of fish will be back in droves. All fishermen would cooperate in such a project—it's to the interest of every nation."

Knake is in charge of another experimental project also aimed at happier days for fisherman and fish-eater alike: freezing fish at sea.

A converted World War II minesweeper, the Delaware, has been fitted out by the Fish and Wildlife Service as a mammoth floating refrigerator, with a 100,000-pound capacity. As the nets are hauled in, the fish are quickly frozen stiff in brine, then dumped into the big freezer.

They are brought into fish storage houses and to packeries just as fresh as the day they were caught even though the vessel may be out for weeks.

HOLDS OF A conventional fishing vessel are packed with ice. A certain percentage must always be allowed for spoilage. But if fish are fast frozen at sea, the theory is that there will be negligible chemical change in the tissue and the flavor should be unimpaired.

"A fisherman then can market his entire catch," explains Knake, "and all of it will be Grade A. The average fish is eight days old before it reaches the cutting tables at the fishery. A hard-frozen fish would remain only minutes old."

He thinks the fisherman would also benefit by fresh by-products of the fish—for medicinal and other industrial purposes—which he estimates are worth 2½ times the value of the edible fillets a fish yields.

Commercial houses are watching the Delaware's voyages closely and sampling her catches. While the expense of installing refrigeration would run into several tens of thousands of dollars, it is believed that the increased values of each catch would pay for the cost in short order.

It may be that Knake's "fenced-in" banks and seagoing deep-freeze will some day revolutionize and spark with new life an ancient industry.

Of the 6,500 Amerians drowned every year, males outnumber females, six to one.

Iran, Western Oil Firms To Reopen Fields

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Representatives of eight big Western oil companies and the Iranian government announced broad agreement today to restart Iran's frozen oil industry. They said they hoped to begin shipping at least some of the oil again in about two months.

Under the agreement announced simultaneously in Tehran and London the eight companies as a consortium will operate the vast Abadan refinery and the surrounding oil fields. They will buy the oil output from Iran and will sell the production abroad. Iran will retain title to the fields and the refining facilities.

Settlement of the three-year diplomatic battle was announced in a joint statement by Iranian Finance Minister Ali Amini and Howard Page of Standard Oil of New Jersey, chairman of the negotiators for the oil companies.

Their statement did not detail the rate of payment to Iran but informed sources said it was virtually the same 50-50 split that prevails elsewhere in the Middle East.

Amini and Page estimated that Iran through direct oil revenue and taxes would get 420 million dollars during the first three years of the arrangement. The estimate for the third year, more than 187 million, is larger than Iran's pre-nationalization oil revenue.

The agreement will run for 25 years, with provisions for three 5-year extensions.

The eight companies making up the consortium are Britain's Anglo-Iranian which developed and operated Iran's industry alone until ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh nationalized its holdings in 1951, Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California, the Texas Co., Gulf Oil Co. and Socony Vacuum, all American, Royal Dutch Shell and Compagnie Francaise de Petroles.

Indian Lake Bar Owner Wounded in Stomach

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP)—Logan County deputy sheriffs today sought an armed mustachioed man driving a red convertible for the shooting of Homer Myers, 51, Island View tavern owner. Myers was shot last night at his tavern at Indian Lake. He was treated at Lima Memorial Hospital for a stomach wound.

Fred Foerster, Logan County sheriff, said he thought Myers may have been a grudge victim and that he planned to quiz him today. Myers was acquitted in July 1953 of murder in the love triangle slaying of Elmer Haney, 23, of Alger.

The Army's first aviation school opened at College Park, Md., in 1911.

3 Gunmen Rob Station, Flee In Hail of Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three gunmen early today robbed two service stations, wounded one attendant, sprayed bullets at a pursuing police car and made their escape.

The chase started after one of the gunmen shot and slightly wounded 21-year-old William J. Covert of Butler when he refused to surrender the cash receipts at a service station.

The gunmen fired at least six shots—then fled to a waiting car. Covert suffered a flesh wound.

From Butler the desperadoes headed for Zelienople where they forced Ray Bauder to hand over an undetermined amount of cash at his service station.

The gunmen sped toward Pittsburgh and a Ross Twp. police car trailed their car for several minutes, losing contact after the gunmen fired two bursts. Several bullets hit the police car but officers escaped injury.

Class of 1914 at Harding Plans Reunion Aug. 28

Plans are nearing completion for the 40th anniversary reunion of the class of 1914 of the Marion High School, to be held in the Plantation Room of Hotel Harding, Aug. 28. A meeting of the committee was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Hazel Hochstetter on Brightwood Dr.

A check on the roster of 63 classmates shows that 13 are deceased. Responses indicate a good representation of the remaining 50 members. With the exception of two all living members have been contacted, and an effort is being made to locate them. Anyone knowing the addresses of Esther Pauline Nicklas and Ilda Ruth Harmon is asked to contact some member of the committee.

Harold Haldeman of Cleveland, who served as president of the class, will preside as toastmaster for the dinner program.

ATTENDS FFA CAMP

Representing the Caledonia Chapter at Ohio FFA Camp Muskingum in Carroll County this week is Robert Dickerson. The camp, located on Leesville Lake, has drawn large attendance during two previous camping periods and total attendance through Aug. 14 is expected to reach a record-breaking 1,100 FFA members, or one out of every 10 members in the state, according to J. E. Dougan, director. During the camp session which opened Wednesday and will continue through Monday, Dickerson is participating in conservation leadership, and recreational activities.

Truckers Turned Down on Request For Tax Exemption

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state tax commissioner, Stanley J. Bowers today turned down the plea of 61 truckers that he exempt them from paying the controversial axle mile tax on trucks using Ohio roads.

The truckers, including three from Ohio, so far have not paid the tax and claim it is unconstitutional. The tax in the 61 cases amounts to $608.738.

On the constitutional question, Bowers said he cannot set aside acts of the Legislature on grounds they are unconstitutional. His decision paved the way for the truckers to take their cases to the state Board of Tax Appeals.

If the tax board upholds Bowers, the truckers can appeal to the courts.

The 58 out-of-state truckers claim the tax violates reciprocity agreements with Ohio but Bowers says these agreements cover only licensing and fees on trucks and not axle mile taxes.

Ohio levies the tax on trucks at the rate of one-half to 2½ cents a mile depending on the number of axles. Ohio has refused to exempt any truckers from the tax. Most of the protesting truckers are from Michigan.

Boys Try New Wrinkle In Earning Polio Funds

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Hamilton housewives ran into a new wrinkle yesterday in the campaigns by youngsters to raise money for the polio fund.

Four small boys made the rounds of their neighborhood collecting canned goods which they said would be sold for the benefit of the polio fund.

A few hours later the same small boys were back at the same doors—they were selling the same canned goods back to the same housewives.

It all went over very well, however. The youngsters netted $7 for the polio drive—plus a few spare cans of fruit for themselves.

Standoff on McCarthy

The six-member senatorial inquiry committee that has been appointed to look into the past behavior of Sen. Joseph McCarthy has been handed the hottest potato in politics.

There is no satisfaction for either group of extremists on the McCarthy issue in the Senate's disposal of the Flanders proposal for a resolution of censure against the Wisconsin Senator.

People who see in Sen. McCarthy the embodiment of everything they don't like are not going to see his hide nailed on the congressional barn door.

People who see in Sen. McCarthy the embodiment of everything they admire are not going to see him given a vote of approval.

We do not know how the six-member committee will handle the hot potato and we doubt that its members will know either. But something had to be done to keep extremists on the McCarthy issue from getting into a deadlock of irreconcilability that might have stretched out the dying days of the congressional session through the entire month of August.

The Flanders proposal for a resolution of censure came from the heart. There can be no doubt of the Vermont senator's sincerity. But it did not come from the head, because it was presented in such a way that it made action impossible.

In the first place, it disregarded the role of the senatorial committee in steps leading up to definitive action; it had not been handled in such a way as to permit committee consideration. In the second place, it made no presentment of specific charges. As far as the proposed resolution was concerned, it amounted to asking senators to go on record as being for or against one of their associates in a popularity contest.

The inquiry committee will consider specific charges. Sen. McCarthy would have preferred to be upheld in a vote on the Flanders proposal, itself. He did not win that point. His critics would have preferred to see him censured on a basis of his general behavior; they lost that point.

In the meantime, there will be no deadlock between irreconcilables — and the American people won that point.

Phun Is Phun Blut

Part of the task that confronts Americans keeping track of the news from all over is pronunciation of words from Indochina. If it weren't for the brave souls who must tackle the words on broadcasts and telecasts, the news from Indochina would not have been discussed.

Without the slightest knowledge of the proper pronunciation of any of the words in the following list — and all of them have been spelled this way because it was as close as some English-speaking person could come to their phonetic sound in the native tongue — these are a few tongue twisters that have come out of Indochina in the last few weeks:

Nguyen Van Hinh, Ngo Dinh Diem, Poe Thoun, Tep Phan, In Cheun, Tiou Long, Ta Quang Buu, Nhiek Tioulong, Tran Van Do, Norodom Sihanouk, Sim Var and Hoa Hao.

Then of course there were Dien Bien Phu and the Phuly-Ninhbinh-Thaibinh Triangle.

While these may be no more puzzling to an American ear than the sound of hundreds of English words would be to any Indochinese, the fact remains that it is hard for Americans to keep track of things they can't pronounce This has been a sore spot in newspaper business ever since the first Yankee clipper ships made contact with the Orient

The trouble always has been with phonetic spelling in English of words from other languages. Take that Phuly-Ninhbinh-Thaibinh Triangle, for instance. Anyone want to bet that could not have been spelled Foolie-Ninbin-Thaybin? At least that would have looked like something pronounceable in English — and that's the whole idea of phonetic spelling

Statewide Troubleshooting

The Sheppard case that has stimulated the imagination of every amateur criminologist within hundreds of miles of Bay Village in the Cleveland area also has stimulated an idea that Ohio needs a statewide trouble - shooting service.

There was created in 1951 a Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. But its operation was restricted to the collecting, filing and preserving of criminal records of felons and known and habitual criminals. It is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't go very far

It has failed to satisfy those who believe Ohio should establish an investigating authority manned by skilled criminologists whose services would be available to local government on a voluntary basis. This bureau would do for local government, in other words, what the Cleveland police department was called in to do belatedly for Bay Village when an undermanned and inexperienced police force was unable to cope with a major investigation in a case of murder.

When the General Assembly convenes next January, it would do well to review the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, with a view to expanding its functions.

Rise in Hypocrisy

By David Lawrence

Seek To Convict McCarthy Without Hearing

The Roman Senate called it "ad hominem," which means an attack on the man rather than the issues he raises, and evidently senatorial habits haven't changed through centuries of time.

The effort to "get McCarthy" is slowly reaching the proportions of a widely instigated hysteria. Judging from some of the vituperative letters which are coming to the members of Congress from anti-McCarthyites, the writers want to use any totalitarian method—from abuse to conviction without a trial—if only to rid the Senate of its most spectacular prosecutor of Communists.

Even United States senators of the so-called "liberal" school are saying that, while the constitution declares that no citizen shall be deprived of his right of free speech—and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme Court defined this as "freedom for the thought we hate"—the Wisconsin senator nevertheless must be publicly "censured" for the opinions he expresses.

The Constitution says in an article about the rights of members of Congress:

"And for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place."

THIS NOW IS being construed by a small number of anti-McCarthy senators as meaning that a senator can be punished for his views by the Senate itself, which is but another way of saying that, because each house of Congress makes it own "rules" of procedure and passes on credentials after elections, this gives Congress the right to invoke that same authority to censure a member publicly for his attitude toward public policies.

This is a form of "thought control" which does not square with the utterances of so-called "liberals" who have been claiming that citizens were being punished for being members of the Communist party. The courts have ruled that leaders of that party are engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow the government. McCarthy ought at least to have the same civil rights as Communists claim.

Far from being a disadvantage to the anti-Communist crusade in America, the controversy initiated by Sen. Flanders is turning out to be a salutary development. It is exposing to full view the arbitrary methods of the anti-anti-Communists, and it will probably lead now to a full-dress debate in the Senate or before the new select committee on every phase of the charges made against the Wisconsin senator.

It will presumably give him a larger audience than before to reveal all the tricks and intrigues of Communist - connected witnesses, who have refused to give their own government even the simplest facts concerning their knowledge of the Communist activity of others.

As for the charges against McCarthy, the man, these continue to be spread without the slightest evidence of guilt, and there are many who call themselves "liberals" who are so emotional that they are ready to convict McCarthy without hearing or reading any of the evidence from his side. They justify this as "a dose of his own medicine" thus ignoring the age-old maxim that two wrongs never make a single right.

The specific charges or "bill of particulars" given by other senators in their attempt to get a "censure" resolution passed relate to incidents that have already been dealt with. The Truman administration investigated McCarthy's income tax returns and, if it could have prosecuted him, it would have done so. The Department of Justice examined all the other charges and found no violation of law. As for the article written by McCarthy for publication as a booklet on housing for veterans, the manuscript of which was bought by the Lustron Corp., a newspaper which was called to account in a libel suit for its attack on McCarthy on this very charge finally acknowledged in a public statement it was "convinced that McCarthy's part in this transaction was on the same plane as the common practice among legislators of accepting fees for speeches and earning other fees for legitimate services."

THE SAME NEWSPAPER stated that "there has not been any evidence presented before any committee or elsewhere that Sen. McCarthy in any way attempted to intercede in behalf of Lustron." This refers to any possible impropriety in doing a favor for the Lustron Corp., which was then doing business with the government. Its contracts were with the Truman executive agencies with which the Wisconsin senator, of course, had no influence.

Yet United States senators on the "liberal" side have been demanding that the Senate, without taking any further testimony, without giving any hearing and without getting all the facts, should render a verdict of "guilty" against the Wisconsin senator. That's the trend now among the "liberals"—to forget all the rules of fair play and to condemn the senator from Wisconsin just because many of their constituents, swept with an emotional prejudice, are demanding his scalp. If that isn't "witch-hunting," then the anti-McCarthyites have been misusing the term.

So far as the senate "liberals" are concerned--many of whom have been accepting fees for speeches before labor unions and trade associations—they cannot "cast the first stone," as they are not now "without sin" themselves, if indeed it be sinful for a senator to make a speech before an organization which has legislation pending in Congress. The rise in hypocrisy here seems to coincide with the rise in temperature on Capitol Hill.

Everything Gets Tired

By TRUMAN TWILL

Summer gets tired, too. The sun gets tired of rising early and retiring late. The leaves get tired of holding on tight.

The flowers yawn and look as if they needed a rest. The grass in the fence corners looks droopy and dusty. The harvest moon invites everything to take another look at the calendar and act accordingly.

Even the people get tired—the same people who were saying a few months ago they wished it would stay warm forever. They have worn themselves out with golf, tennis, croquet, motoring, gardening, sun-bathing and perspiring.

Children get tired of vacation, although they never admit it. They secretly yearn for the restoration of a sense of purpose and an atmosphere of discipline, so they will know what they are doing and where they stand. They have played all the games and seen all the sights one summer will bear.

Grass is tired of growing, and trees are tired of standing majestically at attention in serried vines that have been practicing acrobatics at dangerous heights are tired of reaching for the sky.

The birds are tired, too—tired of getting up early to look for something to eat, tired of flying back and forth over all the old familiar places and tired of chirping. That is why the big hush begins in August—the fateful moment when the slow turning of the earth from the sun begins to bring back the primordial stillness of a speck of matter whirling noiselessly in infinity — before there were any birds to chirp.

The little streams are tired of running to catch big rivers, and big rivers are tired of reaching to the sea. Even the restless deeps grow tired and scarcely stir from their languor to lap the shores.

Locusts sing lullabyes, and cattle are sound asleep at midday in the shade of the oaks. Even the flies that bedevil them are too tired to do anything more than buzz languidly in their victims' twitching ears.

A squirrel eyes a ripening acorn, and a boy eyes the squirrel. A silver airplane drones through an azure sky, and in a distant field the purring of a contented tractor vibrates in the somnolent air.

A curtain hangs limply outside a bedroom where a night watchman is sleeping. A smiling mother watches a baby wriggling to wakefulness in its crib. A cat is snoozing in the shade of a rose bush. A fisherman is cat-napping on his back in the shadow of a tree on the sunward bank.

The clackety-clack of industry begins to sound muffled as the afternoon shadows lengthen. A straight brown furrow divides a golden stubble field into halves. A new county fair poster gleams on a telephone pole. A mechanic is relining the brakes on a school bus.

Summer is tired. The miracles it brought with it are tired. The honeysuckle blooms are gone. Easter chicks are heavy fryers, and June brides have learned that housekeeping is part of the great adventure.

Come to think of it, while you're over there next to the window, pal pull down that shade and close the door behind you when you go out. . .gently.

Power Partnership Well Received

By Raymond Moley

PORTLAND, ORE.

The result of the recent Senate battle over the atomic energy bill represents the first great victory of President Eisenhower's policy of partnership in the generation and distribution of electric power.

All signs indicate that it will not be, the last for the President's idea is something that finds a warm reception in the public mind. The proof rof this lies open to the inquiring visitor to the Northwest.

This section, torn for years by controversy over the choice between public and private power, has discovered that such a choice need not be made There is a sound workable middle ground which the President calls "partnership" and which informed people here call "local participation."

The practical application of partnership was a reality here long before Eisenhower entered politics, and there are good reasons to believe that he got the idea from here through former governor and now Interior Secretary McKay. It is significant also that Eisenhower as a candidate in 1952 made his most important announcement of policy in Seattle.

VARIOUS EXPLANATIONS are given here of how "patnership" originated, but it seems to me a logical outcome of the Northwest power pool. That co-operative plan of stabilizing and equalizing the flow of electric power from the generator to the customer began in 1915 but reached its present form early in World War II.

At the present time it includes, in what is sometimes, and not quite accurately, called a "grid" private electric utility companies, public ownership plants of both municipal and utility districts, federally operated hydro plants, and the Bonneville Power Administration. It extends into several states to the east to Fort Peck in Montana, and the Utah Power and Light Company.

Power comes from both steam and hydro plants. The pool rests almost wholly upon co-operative efforts and works through an operating committee which maintains constant contacts among the participating agencies.

When there is a shortage at one spot, it is supplied from others through transmission lines which interconnect the participating agencies.

THIS POOL SHOULD be sharply distinguished from the Bonneville Power Administration of the Interior Department, which produces no power but distributes and makes contracts for power generated in federal plants The BPA, however, is a participating member of the pool.

From this co-operative or partnership plan of distribution there has now grown the idea of group building of new hydro facilities. This involves financial contributions from more than one agency, public or private, toward the building of the project and the taking of power therefrom under contract.

The two facilities which are most prominent are the Priest Rapids dam, reservoir, and power plant already authorized by Congress, and the John Day project now under study.

BOTH ARE on the Columbia River. The former will include among the partners a number of Washington public utility districts. The latter will include the two big private companies of Oregon, a Washington private company, and perhaps some public bodies.

Significantly, such inveterate public power advocates as Sen. Magnuson are now talking partnership

The people of these states have come to realize that what is needed for the growth of the region is money. And money from private investors has the same capacity for development as federal contributions and may well be easier to get.

The Fly Swatter

By Frank Tripp

The woman I live with, better known to you as Fanny, turns out to be a dangerous person—all on account of her dexterity with a fly swatter.

The safest way to approach her within arm's reach lately was with an electric fan in one hand and a boiler cover in the other. The one to blow away her prey, the other to ward off her attack should she mistake a freckle for a fly.

Oh yes, we have screens, acres of 'em, and every brand of exterminator: the kind you pouf, the kind you squirt and the kind you burn. But we've had some other things around this fly-time. We were knee-deep in house painters and kids. It's even money which can let in more flies.

A NEEDED COURSE in public schools in how to talk through a screen, something no kid seems able to do. They can't so much as say "good morning" until they are planted in a doorway with the screen wide open.

And it seems like house painters take down the screens when you give 'em the contract and don't put 'em back till your check has cleared the bank.

What with painters, kids and those departing callers who always think of a new ten-minute topic on their way out, I've figured that, though totally enclosed in screen, we really are only about 50 per cent protected.

I'm for jailing house painters through fly-time and building creep-in cat-holes via the cellar for kids. What to do about longwinded doorway women, short of arsenic cocktails, I leave to Rube Goldberg.

NO MATTER how come or why, there's one thing for certain, nothing is more lethal than a woman with a fly swatter. Her weapon is the sole survivor of days when wire screen was a luxury, when cloth mosquito bar was tacked over windows, and typhoid and malaria flourished.

The persuaders of that time were the smudge pot and flour sacks slashed into inch-wide strips, then fastened to a discarded broom handle, a cat-o'-nine-tails, with some 20 tails.

When the flies became unbearable a door was opened and the attack started across the room. The persuader was swung at random and the flies driven out; only to be right back, for the only fatal weapons were the fly swatter and flypaper.

SWEET CLOVER hung in bunches from ceilings as a roosting place. A steady hand could shake snoozing flies outdoors after dark. They'd be back for breakfast.

Flypaper sold like hot cakes. "Tanglefoot" was the popular brand, and sure did tangle. In my day I sat down on at least a dozen sheets of it and once got a sheet in my hair.

My dog "Tip" rushed up playfully and swished his tail into a fresh sheet of Tanglefoot, then waved it across my face and forehead. Kerosene wouldn't loose it but Pop knew how. "Tip" didn't need a haircut much as I did. Anyway we both got one, right down to the hide.

AS YOU WIELD your fancy plastic swatter, pay homage to its ancestor Your grandmother didn't have one, but she invented it; a folded newspaper, which still works swell.

Just one more reason why radio can never replace the newspaper. That and pantry shelves—and fireplace kindling.

Neither can you wrap fish in a radio commercial. Fish smell bad enough on their own. Besides, how would you ever housebreak a cat?

Oh, I tell you, brother, the good old newspaper is here to stay.

Rubirosa and the Western

Unless the U S. Imigration Service is permitting itself to be used in a Hollywood publicity stunt, we may see senators, the Supreme Court, party leaders and even the White House ultimately drawn into the issue of whether the United States should be compelled to take Porfirio Rubirosa and Zsa Zsa Gabor in a movie western.

Porfirio, all set to star with Zsa Zsa in a capitalization of publicity resulting from a scandalous degrading of matrimony as a sacrament and as a binding thing, has been stymied by the California Immigration Office, and his lawyer, Michael Kohn, has filed an appeal with the Washington headquarters.

We deeply suspect press agentry. But if the Immigration people are leveling and do not let a quick brushing off of wedding tand a couple of black eyes) become the excuse for a movie glorification of two principals, there may be excitement ahead into which even the United Nations will figure

Rubirosa was first blocked by a ruling that he was here on a visa which did not entitle him to work He then asked for a special permit to work as a movie actor The permit was refused on the grounds that he had no experience in movies. (Ya mean his performances have been all in REAL LIFE!!!).

Porfirio and Zsa Zsa seem to rate in importance somewhere between the Indochinese crisis and the Suez Canal situation. Washington can get into the act. We would not be surprised if President Eisenhower had to announce his Rubirosa-Gabor policy. Zsa Zsa has no trouble over a permit. She turns up everywhere with what must be the proper registration and operating licenses.

We think Porfirio can prove he is a movie actor and that he falls somewhere between the late Rudy Valentino and Heigh-Ho-Silver in public appeal. We see something of Sabu, the late John Barrymore and Johnny Weissmuller of Tarzan fame in him. He is handsome in a Latin way, wears clothes well and is certainly a figure in the world of romance.

In the scheduled western, he might prove quite a cowboy up to a point where he made with "I'm a Lone Cowhand" or "Home on the Range." It is possible he might prove to be the first cowboy to play the uke or banjo with a polo mallet.

There is talk of a big scene in which Porfirio, ambushed by the U.S. Immigration agents, is rescued by a posse headed by Zsa Zsa on her pinto pony, "Black Eyes." We wouldn't know. But we think of nothing America needs less than a Hollywood movie based on publicity in marriage matters which at no time smelled good in most American homes. ("Tex" Rubirosa! . . . "Shane" Rubirosa.! . . . "Cheyenne" Rubirosa?. . . "Porfirio the Kid"? . . None of 'em sounds good. And fancy a western with a girl cast as "Calamity" Zsa Zsa"!)

Robert Jungk, author of "Tomorrow Is Already Here," says the centers of American life are no longer the school and church, but the supermarket and the factory. . . 'Rags to Riches' Story Of Upper Man Recalled

UPPER SANDUSKY — On a large marker in Oak Hill Cemetery, two miles south of Upper Sandusky, is a marble bust of Pietro Cuneo, apparently gazing over the green fields of his adopted country from the gentle slope of the older portion of the cemetery near the main entrance.

Cuneo was an immigrant from Italy, an organ grinder on the streets of New York, a farm hand in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, a shop laborer in Canton, a newspaper man in Medina, postmaster, editor and publisher in Upper Sandusky and consul to Italy.

Came to New York

Born in Pian de Cuni, a small Italian village near Genoa, Sept. 29, 1837, he came to New York with his father in 1849. Neither could speak English and for several months they made a meager living by playing hand organs in the streets.

Two years later, the father, in failing health, returned to his family in Pian de Cuni, but Pietro stayed and began his climb toward financial success, combined with both literary and political recognition. He worked and studied through long days and evenings, laboring on farms and in sawmills and shops until 1865 when he purchased a half interest in the Medina Gazette.

The following year, Cuneo sold his interest in the Medina paper, moved to Upper Sandusky and purchased The Pioneer. He renamed the paper The Wyandot County Republican and engaged in strongly partisan political editorial battles of the times, with great skill and energy.

Appointed Postmaster

Appointed Upper Sandusky postmaster by his personal friend, President U. S. Grant, Cuneo served in that capacity from 1869 to 1877. Named consul to Italy by President William McKinley, he held the diplomatic post during the McKinley administration from 1896 to 1901.

Following his term as consul in his native land, Cuneo returned to his home here and resumed his position as editor-in-chief of the local paper. He died in 1906 and his grave was marked with a large monument topped by the marble bust carved by P. L. Ceroso, of Torino, Italy.

HERE'S CUNEO GRAVE STONE

He had married Myra V. Miller of Canton in 1861 and she died in Upper Sandusky in 1883. One son, Sherman, succeeded him as editor here. Other children included Laura, Edward, Eva, Roscoe and Ray. None have visited Upper Sandusky in recent years and only the older residents remember the fiery little editor who wrote a typical American story of his era on the pages his own life history.

Area's Rabbit Breeders Hold Annual Picnic Here

First annual picnic was held by the Central Ohio Rabbit Breeders Association Sunday at Lincoln Park. Fourteen members were present.

Guest speaker for a program was Vern Ashton of Lima, president of the National Rabbit Breeders Association. He discussed the qualifications and disqualifications of rabbit breeding.

Robert McGuffin, president of the local club, presented Mr. Ashton a life membership in the Central Ohio group. A special prize during the day was won by Thomas Brown of Richwood. The next meeting will be Sept. 6 at the Central Labor Union hall.

Bumstead-Type Set-To With Salesman Reported

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — This salesman literally beat his prospect over the head—with the merchandise.

Erwin E. Hunter told police the salesman came to his door yesterday and sought to interest Hunter in some pots and pans. Hunter said he declined politely, whereupon the pot merchant banged Hunter on the noggin with a pan.

Hunter said that, when he recovered from his surprise, he floored the peddler with a right to the jaw. The salesman got up and fled, taking his wares with him. Police are looking for him on an assault charge.

The number of Diesel locomotives used on U. S. railroads increased from 3,800 in 1945 to 23,000 in 1953.

Lodge Activities

One candidate was initiated at a meeting of Women of the Moose, Tuesday evening in the lodge hall. At this time also plans were made for a picnic Aug. 15.

Maj. Gen. J. O. Mauborgne — outstanding Army scientists and engineer — was the first operator to transmit a message by radio from a military airplane.

Church Activities

More than 30 women from Epworth Methodist Church attended sessions of the School of Missions and Christian Service for the Defiance, Lima, and Toledo Districts of the Ohio Conference at Lakeside last week.

Among 25 who went for all or part of the school were Miss Audrey Bolander, Lima District secretary of missionary education who had a part on the program, Mrs. W. D. McGee, the Epworth WSCS president, and Mrs. Walter C. Eyster, wife of the church's pastor. Seven members who have been spending summer weeks at Lakeside and attended the school include Mrs. V. E. Busler, Mrs. R W Kauble, Mrs. Fred Carhart, Mrs. Ralph Carhart, Mrs Dale Lawrence, Mrs. A. W Kette, and Mrs. John Moser. They were among approximately 500 women who were enrolled for the week's meeting. The school at Lakeside is held annually and is one of a number of such schools set up throughout the country for delegates from societies which incorporate a total of more than 1,700,000 Methodist women.

Grand Prairie Baptist Church Missionary Women held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Verne Lucas near Marion Wednesday. Mrs. Chester Lust presided.

Members rolled bandages for overseas boxes and letters of thanks were read from Baptist missionary training graduates to whom gifts had been sent.

Mrs. Doris Rice was selected chairman of a committee in charge of taking a special collection in the near future for hospital equipment in Nicaragua. Selected as prayer partners for next month were Mrs. Wanda Turney and Mrs. Hilda Brooks.

A committee was appointed for cooking and serving supper at the church camp Sunday at Camp Owens. Mrs. Iva Angles conducted the prayer meeting, using "The Needs of Our World" as her topic. Mrs. Turney closed the meeting with prayer.

Family Night observance sponsored by the Missionary Society at Trinity Baptist Church Wednesday night featured as guest speaker Mrs. Willis Nye of Marion. She told of spending three years with her husband and daughter in South India as lay missionaries, and showed articles of handwork done by the natives and displayed a collection of dolls.

Devotions were led by Miss Gwendolyn Epley on "At the Heart's Door." Mrs. Ralph Wingett presided for business, and Mrs. Richard Maxim and Mrs. Harold Smith sang, accompanied by Miss Judy Maxim. Introduction of Mrs. Nye was made by Mrs Floyd Arthur who gave the closing prayer which followed the program. Refreshments were served by a group composed of two members from each circle. Announcement was made of an afternoon meeting for Sept. 2.

The Golden Rule Class of the Green Camp Methodist Church met Monday night in the church basement.

In the absence of the president, Edwin Schwaderer, the vice president, Clyde Powelson, took charge of the business meeting. One committee was formed to be in charge of the ice cream social which will be given some time this month. Serving on this committee are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Powelson and Mr. and Mrs. William Clunk. The program was opened with group singing followed by devotions led by Mrs. Dwight Hedges. Roll call was answered to "naming an outstanding vacation trip." Twenty-four members and one guest Mrs Harold Mitchell, were present. Mrs. Mitchell is the sister of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Spears.

The program was closed with a prayer by Mrs. J. W. Spears. Host and hostess for the evening were Mr. and Mrs Joseph Lyon and Mrs. Ruth Hedges. The social hour was led by Mrs. Edwin Schwaderer and Mrs. Clyde Powelson, with awards going to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reinhart. A children's contest was won by Arlan Hedges.

Stories of songs and their writers composed the program at a meeting of the Morral Methodist Home Builders Class Tuesday night. Mrs John Marshall was the hostess. Scripture was read by Mrs. Mae Massie and prayer was offered by Mrs. Mary Wood. During business plans for two financial projects were discussed. For the program information concerning the songs was given by Mrs. William Hughes. "The Ninety and Nine"; Mrs. Marcus Hensel, "There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood"; Mrs. Hiram Baker, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone""; and Mrs. John Shifflet, "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Council at Bucyrus Studies Revision of City Fire Contracts

BUCYRUS — A proposed revision of the city's fire protection contracts with Holmes, Whetstone, Bucyrus and Dallas Townships was taken under advisement here today by city Council after Mayor Frank P. Suter recommended approval of the proposal.

The proposed contract revision would set a charge of $720 a year for housing the new truck of the Tri-Township Fire Department which provides fire protection for the townships in the city fire station. The Bucyrus fire department would provide two men to operate the truck on fire calls and the city would be paid $25 fo each run. If the fire necessitated sending a city fire department truck, an additional $75 charge would be made.

Under present contracts, the four townships pay $1,100 a year to the city but their truck is not housed at the fire station.

Action on the proposal is expected to be taken by Council at its next meeting, Aug. 17.

Truck Trailer Makers Out To Double Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Makers of those truck trailers that drone down the highways in front of your car are out today to play both sides of the street.

Not a swaying from side to side—but a play to double the numbers of the cargo carriers by selling to both of those bitter rivals, the railroads and the trucking industry.

Keen Competition

Competition is so keen that one of the top companies is redesigning its line of freight vans at a considerable drain on present earnings. Another is launching a system of interchange of parts which allows its customers to design their own trailers to meet individual needs.

The federal proposal to build a net of cross-country highways and to widen existing ones brings loud cheers from the trailer makers, who have suffered this year from a letdown in sales, due to the general drop in the shipment of industrial goods

Some half million trailers carry freight over the nation's highways today. Figured on the number of tons carried per mile, their business is 10 times what it was in 1936, the Bureau of Public Roads reports.

Industry leaders predict that new designs and the expansion of the highway system will bring the number of trailers to one million within the next five or six years.

Trailer makers are also welcoming the yen of some railroads to carry trailers on flat cars to the city of their destination, there to slide them down to the streets to seek out the factory or store waiting for the goods they carry. Fruehauf Trailer Co. says it already has orders for 400 trailers from seven railroads for piggy-back operations.

Has New Plan

Trailmobile, Inc., which makes trailers as a subsidiary of that old-time railroad car supplier, Pullman, Inc., will go after sales henceforth with a new plan for customer individualized design. President William A. Burns says this gives each trailer buyer the chance to design his own units to meet his individual needs and to pay for only such materials and features as he wants and needs.

The company is starting this month to apply the principles of standardization and parts interchangeability to the truck-trailer industry. Customers pick out, and combine, their own choice of various trailer sides, fronts, nose caps, floors, underframes, linings, kingpin location, suspensions, landing gears, and front and roof radii.

It will put trailmobile into the "custom tailor" business.

A breakfast cereal maker, for example, to whom trailer weight is of small moment, can save money by ordering the cheaper and heavier materials. A maker of heavy metal products, to whom trailer weight is of first importance, might save money by ordering the more expensive but lighter trailers of aluminum.

Roy Fruehauf, president of Fruehauf Trailer Co., says the number of trailers on the roads will double by 1960. He adds, reassuringly, that by then there should be more and wider roads to help them stay out of the car drivers way, thus easing public tension.

Ohio VFW Posts Take Honors at Convention

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Lt. Col. Bulger Post of Fostoria, Ohio, took first place in the senior band division of the Veterans of Foreign Wars competition yesterday.

Warren, Ohio, Post 1090 won in the junior band division. Donald G. Whetstone Post 4120, Minerva, Ohio, and Post 66, East Liverpool, Ohio, were first and second, respectively, in the men's senior rifle drill team competition. Francis Williams Post of Alliance, Ohio, was fourth in that contest, following Sgt. Chauncey F. Yingst Post 1687 of Hummelstown, Pa.

Coffee has been used as a beverage about 600 years.

Boy of 9 Plays Cops, Robbers With Real Cops

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Nine-year old Charles Tiger got locked inside of a big wholesale food warehouse last night and accidentally tripped a burglar alarm.

He crawled out from behind a packing crate to find 15 policemen facing him with guns drawn.

"You caught me," he said. "Bet'cha can't catch the other six guys who are in here with me."

A systematic search of the warehouse, lasting 45 minutes, produced no one. Officers decided to talk to Charley again.

The youngster broke down.

"Ain't nobody here but me."

LAUSCHE APPOINTED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche will serve on a new seven-man committee of governors formed to do spadework on the President's proposed 50-billion-dollar highway program. The committee was announced yesterday by Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana, chairman of the National Governor's Conference.
